Negroes to March In Spite of Order

500 State Troopers, Heavily Armed, Moved Into Selma

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — More than 2,000 Negroes massed today at a church and began organizing an immediate right-to-vote march to Montgomery, the Alabama capital, despite a court order and a presidential appeal for restraint.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., central figure in the long, violence-marked Negro drive, met with other civil rights leaders to decide a course of action.

The Rev. Andrew Young, a staff member of King's organization, said the march would be attempted. He and several other field workers went into Browns chapel A.M.E. church to organize the march.

The start appeared imminent. U. S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. at Montgomery in a surprise move ordered Negroes to refrain from trying to march the 50 miles from Selma to Montgomery, the state capital.

Johnson, who had been requested to bar interference from state and local police, said the court should have "a reasonable opportunity to make a judicial determination as to the respective rights of the parties in this case."

Shortly before his order came down, about 500 state troopers rolled into Selma where Negro marchers were dispersed Sunday by the troopers using clubs and tear gas.

But already there had been reports that the highway hike might be delayed until later in the week. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., leading the Negro voter drive, had called a news conference.

The Negroes were ready for a massive procession to the Dallas County Courthouse in Selma in what would be the biggest demonstration in the voter drive.

The troopers stood by at a National Guard Armory on the western edge of Selma. It was the greatest force of the club-carrying troopers since Gov. George C. Wallace's stand in the doorway at the University of Alabama in 1953 in a futile effort to block integration there.

Only about 250 state police were left to patrol Alabama's thousands of miles of highways.

One source said that the huge force of troopers poured into Selma were under new orders from Wallace to refrain from beating the Negroes—an action which turned Sunday's march into club swinging and tear gas firing.

Hundreds of ministers from throughout the nation were arriving to join the Negro march.

Ex-Airman Pleads Guilty To Spy Count

NEW YORK (AP) — Two months ago, soon after his arrest on charges he sold military secrets to the Soviet Union, Robert Glenn Thompson, 30, a former Air Force man, told newsmen:

"I never sold information to anyone. I've not been in contact with any Russian or anyone else like that. I am 100 per cent American and I always have been."

Monday, in U. S. District Court in Brooklyn, Thompson changed his plea to guilty and admitted he was a paid spy for six years, first in military life and later in civilian life.

The court clerk read the count of espionage which started: "That from in or about June 1957 and continuously thereafter, . . .

In a soft voice, the 6-foot-2, 250-pound Thompson said: "I plead guilty."

He was continued free in bail of $15,000 for sentencing May 13. He could receive a death sentence, but his new plea probably will win him a degree of leniency.

Shastri to Visit U. S. and Russia

NEW DELHI (AP) — Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri announced today he will visit the Soviet Union beginning May 12 and the United States early in June.

In Washington, the White House announced simultaneous visits by the prime minister and the American capital June 2-3 and then will spend "several days" visiting other parts of the United States.

Beloit Students To Participate in Alabama March

BELOIT (AP) — A group of eight Beloit College students plan to participate in today's scheduled 50-mile march from Selma, Ala., to Montgomery in protest of alleged discrimination in voting rights.

The group, which includes John McCaul of Madison, left the Beloit campus early today for Chicago where they were to take a plane southward.

Another Beloit group planned to leave the campus around 11 a.m. today for a 50-mile hike to the state capital in Madison in sympathy with the Selma group.

Reunification Talks Proposed

BONN, Germany (AP) — German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard and British Prime Minister Harold Wilson agreed today to consult with the United States and France on "renewed proposals" to the Soviet Union for the reunification of Germany.

"It was agreed," said a joint communiqué, "that the two governments should now consider, jointly with their American and French allies, how progress to this end might most effectively be made by means of renewed proposals to the Soviet government."

Final Action Expected Today On DST Bill

MADISON (AP)—Final legislative action on a bill extending daylight saving time a month was to be taken today by the Assembly.

The bill provides that the daylight saving period begin with the last Sunday in April and end the last Sunday in October, instead of the last Sunday in September.

Final consideration came only after rural representatives' repeated attempts to block the legislation failed.

The bill would have moved to a final vote last week immediately after preliminary approval, but rural Assemblymen rejected. The vote for preliminary approval was 66-30.

Family of Five Killed in Blast

WOODBRIDGE, Ont. (AP) — An explosion and fire ripped an apartment above a wax factory today, wiping out a family of five.

The dead were identified as Fred Burnett, 33; his wife, Zelma, 21, and their three children, Bobby, 3; Terry, 2, and Shelley, 1.

The cause of the explosion was not determined.

Expect Low Tonight Of About 14 Degrees

Fox Cities — Fair tonight and Wednesday. Colder tonight, low near 14. High Wednesday near 32 degrees. Light northerly winds.

Appleton — Observations at 10 a. m. today: Temperatures for the 24 hours: High, 40, low, 22. Wind: 9 miles an hour out of the north-north-east. Barometer: 29.86 and rising. Relative humidity: 87. Dew point: 21. Temperature: 25. Skies are cloudy. Precipitation: .08 in form of 1.3 inches snow.

Road Report — Scattered slippery spots in far west of state.

Sun sets at 5:52 p. m., rises Wednesday at 6:16 a. m. Visible planets are Mars and Jupiter.

Reports Denied

Denying reports that the conference had failed in its objectives, Sihanouk told the rally: "It is natural that our opinions diverge as to ways of assuring a return to peace in Viet Nam and Laos."

A Viet Nam resolution "approves the principle of letting Vietnamese people settle by themselves the issue of peaceful reunification of Viet Nam."

A general resolution criticized Britain, co-chairman of the Geneva conference, for refusing "without justified reason to convene a new Geneva conference, not only to recognize and guarantee neutrality and territorial integrity of Cambodia, but also for re-establishment of peace in Laos."

Residents of Selma Afraid; Tension Mounts

People Wait for Passions to Erupt In Violent Acts

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — The grim spectre of racial unrest stalks through the wide tree-lined streets and riverbanks of this uneasy city.

The people of Selma are afraid. They have watched simmering passions finally explode into violence in one bloody encounter between civil rights marchers and state and city police.

They are fearful of another. The mobilization of hundreds of restless Negroes for another attempted 50-mile protest hike to Montgomery just two days after Sunday's outbreak left little time for tensions and tempers to subside.

Freedom Songs

From the Negro community came swelling chorus of "freedom" songs and a renewed determination to continue the civil rights struggle.

But with them came murmured threats of reprisals for the constant appeals for non-violence from Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and other Negro leaders.

The litter of broken glass and bricks hurled at sheriff's deputies in the wake of Sunday's clash and the threats heard here and there in doorways gave evidence of what one civil rights leader, James Webb, called "the natural desire of these people to retaliate."

Rights Leaders

But civil rights leaders emphasized again and again their policy of passive resistance.

There was increasing unrest, also among the white residents of this century-old city famed throughout the south for its Civil War landmarks.

White bystanders gathered along the four-lane highway and cheered lustily while club-swinging state troopers charged into the marching throng of Negroes Sunday and drove them back with tear gas.

Still, in the seven weeks of almost constant Negro demonstrations for equal voting rights and a spreading boycott of white merchants, there has been no open clash between the races in Selma, only between

Birch Society Chief Charges Civil Rights Movement a Red Plan

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Robert Welch says the civil rights movement is part of a Communist plan to drive a wedge between Americans and to establish a "Negro Soviet republic in the southeastern United States."

The founder of the John Birch Society, here for three fund-raising speeches, told a news conference Monday:

The plan was devised in 1929 by Communist leaders who said then that "Negroes in the South are to be considered exactly as if they were a colony of suppressed natives."

The plan's object, said Welch, is to "stir up trouble and demand an independent Negro republic . . . and then advance the Communist cause."

New Revenue Needed to Balance Record 2-Year Budget of $832 Million

MADISON (AP) — Gov. Warren P. Knowles formally proposed today that Wisconsin meet its 1965-67 money problem with a combination of sales tax extensions and income tax increases that would raise $123.8 million in new revenue.

The amount would balance the record $832.8 million budget Knowles has recommended and provide about $20 million to pay for additional programs.

About two-thirds of the new funds, or $85.2 million, would come from a broad extension of the three per cent sales tax. A one-fifth of one per cent increase in income tax rates would net an estimated $29.8 million, while $6.8 million would come from doubling the state's $1 a barrel tax on beer.

Mental Patients

A change in the state's formula for charging counties for the care of mental patients would bring the remaining $6 million.

The income tax increase would be retroactive, applying to individual earnings since Jan. 1, but would not be added to the top rate of 10 per cent on earnings of more than $14,000 a year.

Knowles made his proposal public at a news conference Monday. He said the sudden and rather unusual method of presentation was prompted by Democratic demands for an immediate tax bill.

Knowles had wanted to continue bipartisan negotiations on a compromise measure, and clearly indicated he did not appreciate being pushed into the new approach.

Avoid Stalemate

"Although I feel this request will delay the process of compromise, we must avoid any possibility of a political stalemate," he said.

The Republican governor said he had discussed the bill with several GOP legislative leaders, but that Democrats had not been shown a draft.

Knowles prepared the bill for introduction to the Joint Finance Committee and said he would ask that it be offered for initial debate in the Senate. The Finance Committee now is holding hearings on the budget bill, which the governor said he hoped would be joined with the balancing tax proposal.

Spending Programs

Combining budget and revenue proposals has forced legislators in past sessions to cast their vote for the taxes needed to pay for the spending programs they favored.

Knowles said he wanted his budget and tax bill joined because this was a "responsible approach."

The Legislature's Democratic leadership told Knowles last

U. S. Marines Dig-In On Slopes of Hills Overlooking Airbase

HAWK MISSILES WILL OCCUPY SPACE ABOVE SECURITY FORCE

HILL 327, South Viet Nam (AP) — U. S. Marines moved today onto the slopes of this hill commanding the defense of Da Nang air base, thus becoming the first U. S. ground combat units to take to the field in the Viet Nam war.

A Company of the 3rd Marine Battalion provided close security for Marine engineers repairing three miles of road to the top of the hill. A large force of Marines and Hawk anti-aircraft missiles soon will be dug in on top.

No Contact

There was no contact with the Viet Cong as the Marines marched off the airbase and moved along a muddy road bordered with lush rice paddies to the 1,950-foot hill. Vietnamese rangers were stationed in the surrounding area for outer security.

The Marines' move was the first they made off the base since first elements of the two Marine battalions began landing in this Viet Cong-infested area of South Viet Nam Monday.

They wore combat packs and armored vests. Some lugged light machine guns or rocket launchers and ammunition.

Unloaded Guns

None of the Marines had clips inserted in their weapons. A sergeant said the men were still too jumpy. They were under orders to load their weapons only if shot at.

Colombia Army In Search for Kidnaped Boy

$250,000 Ransom Asked for Son of Rich Industrialist

MEDELLIN, Colombia (AP) — The Colombian army joined in the search today for the 8-year-old son of one of the country's richest men, kidnaped and held for $250,000 ransom. Police said they were confident of finding the boy within 48 hours.

Carlos Mejia Flores, son of industrialist and rancher Santiago Mejia Herrera, was dragged away by five men Monday while with a group of school companions. Mejia is reportedly worth $30 million.

Police arrested a 14-year-old boy in a church near the scene of the kidnaping and held him as a suspected accomplice.

Reward Offered

One of Carlos' schoolmates, shown a photograph of a man known to have taken part in previous local kidnapings, said he was one of the men who snatched Carlos. The Mejia family offered the schoolmates the cost of their education if they would help find the boy.

The government offered a $5,000 reward.

Civic associations of Medellin set up a committee to look for the child. Ten light planes were to drop leaflets over the city of one million with photographs of the boy.

At least 10,000 men, including soldiers and police, were mobilized for the search.

Another kidnaping took place Monday in Bogota, Colombia's capital. Two gunmen invaded the home of Mrs. Gloria Gomez de Pardo and took her away. She is the daughter of a retired general and the wife of a doctor.

More Marines Due in Da Nang

WASHINGTON Ponders Utilization of Navy's Powerful 7th Fleet

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Four more plane loads of U. S. Marines were due in Da Nang today as the landing of 3,500 Leathernecks to strengthen the key air base's defense neared completion.

About 2,500 Marines landed Monday, some in C130 transport planes and others storming ashore from landing craft in heavy surf. They dug in around the base, the prime staging area for air strikes against North Viet Nam and Communist supply routes through Laos.

Arriving with the Marines were several Marine helicopters which flew ashore from a carrier off the coast.

U. S. Air Force and Navy jets patrolled the skies to meet any Communist response to the landing of the two Marine battalions. An air strike was ordered against a herd of 20 elephants sighted 12 miles north of Da Nang. Military officials felt the Viet Cong might be using the lumbering beasts to haul arms for an attack on the base.

In Washington, U. S. officials considered whether to authorize the powerful 7th Fleet to concentrate on intercepting the movement of arms and men by boat from Communist North Viet Nam to the Viet Cong.

ARAB NATIONS DISCUSS UNITED ACTION AGAINST ERHARD REGIME

CAIRO (AP) — President Gamal Abdel Nasser hurled epithets at West Germany as representatives of the Arab nations gathered in Cairo today to discuss united action against the Bonn government for offering to establish diplomatic relations with Israel.

Accusing Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's regime of "betrayal, treason and treachery," Nasser told a cheering crowd Monday that West Germany is "a dependent country and a tool in the hands of imperialists."

"I have never seen people so insolent in my life," Nasser declared. "They say Nasser is $16 million worth of farms to Israel last month in a futile effort to appease Nasser."

Personal Emissary

Erhard sent a personal emissary, Dr. Kurt Birrenbach, to Jerusalem for meetings with Israeli Premier Levi Eshkol and Foreign Minister Golda Meir.

Israeli satisfaction with Erhard's offer was lessened by his decision to stop the shipment of rael last month in a futile effort to appease Nasser.

Indochinese Demand U. S. Withdrawal

PNHOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The anti-American conference of Indochinese people ended today by demanding U. S. military withdrawal from South Viet Nam. It also called for new international conferences on Laos and Cambodia.

Attended by 38 Communist and neutralist organizations, the conference did not call for a new Geneva conference to settle Indochinese issues as requested by host Cambodia.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong delegations rejected any negotiations on South Viet Nam before an unconditional withdrawal of U. S. forces.

Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodia's chief of state who was architect of the conference, spoke at the closing rally at Phnom Penh's 50,000-seat stadium.

State, FAA Differ on Suggestions For Oshkosh Port Runway Extension

North-South, Diagonal Strips Are Proposed

OSHKOSH — The State Aeronautics Commission is recommending Winnebago County plan the extension to the north-south runway at the airport through the Federal Aviation Agency's study of the engineering survey of the airport favors the north-west-southeast runway proposal.

The engineering firm of Howard, Needles, Tammen and Bergendoff, in its study of the airport, recommended the northwest-southeast runway in preference to extension of the north-south runway, which was its second choice, as the better of the two plans, but indicated it would be more expensive than the north-south runway as shown.

A letter from J. M. Abernathy, airport engineer of the State Aeronautics Commission, read at Monday night's aviation committee meeting, stated that while the FAA study favors the northwest-southeast runway, "we note no serious objections to the development of the north-south runway. We therefore recommend that the planning for future development of the facility be based on extension of the north-south runway as pointed out in our report dated Oct. 12, 1964."

Earlier Vote

The aviation committee earlier had voted in favor of the extension to the south of the runway about a half mile and the displacement of the north threshold of that runway from its present point near W. 20th Avenue south to the intersection with the east-west runway. This displacement, it thought, would enable a plane taking off to the north to make its turn while still over the airport instead of over the city.

S. O. Harter, district airport engineer for the Federal Aviation Agency, said the FAA's feasibility study opinion was made considering present and anticipated requirements to meet aerospace users' needs in the Oshkosh area. "Due to rapid changes to such requirements and the ever changing art of air traffic control, this opinion may be altered when a firm project is received."

Meager 484 Votes Cast In Appleton

A meager 484 votes were cast in Appleton as of noon today in the state judicial primary.

City Clerk Elden Brohm guessed the overall vote would be less than 3,000 by the time the polls close at 8 p.m.

The noon count—down about 50 per cent for the corresponding period in the 1964 primary—reflected voter apathy toward the Supreme Court race.

One of three candidates will be eliminated from the field which includes the incumbent Justice Nathan Heffernan, Atty. Joseph Wilkus of Sheboygan and Atty. Howard Boyle Jr. of Beaver Dam.

At stake is a 10-year term on the high court, paying $24,000 a year.

Election of the remaining three officers will be held at the next meeting. Candidates include Gerald Loey, Charles Van Zeeland, Arthur Moreau and Donald DeGroot.

Plans will be discussed for a house-to-house solicitation and other campaign to area industries to help raise funds for a proposed swimming pool. Discussion will also be held on assisting members of the American Legion at their annual picnic in June.

Many of the wedding party and guests had arrived and assembled there.

The only twist to a somewhat routine wedding story was that the wedding was 18 months ago and the "reception" today was being held before a Circuit Court jury in the Outagamie County courthouse.

Reason for the gathering was to hear testimony from many of the wedding guests who had attended the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hyde, of Kaukauna on Aug. 3, 1963 and came away from the reception hungry.

Officials of the Catholic Club Association have brought suit against Mr. and Mrs. Hyde, of Kaukauna on Aug. 3, 1963 and came away from the reception hungry.

According to testimony, Mr. Hyde stopped payment of a check to the club shortly after returning from their honeymoon. Their reason, according to their attorney, is that the 287 guests at the dinner were unfed and went home hungry.

John Bowers, club manager, said today in opening testimony before the four-women, two-men jury, that guests were supposed to have eaten 300 half chickens and six 11 pound hams.

Also served were several rolls of left-over beef from the noon reception. The dinner was served country-style, and had been planned for 300 guests.

Bowers said he was paid for the dinner on the night of the wedding. The bill included $42 in tips for the waitresses, who, according to Bowers, "are still unpaid because we didn't get the money."

Served Peas, Coffee

Mrs. Hyde, whose legal expense was gained when she worked as a courtroom reporter prior to her marriage, stopped payment on the check when she learned that many of her guests

"had nothing more than some peas and coffee."

To support her statements, Mrs. Hyde has asked upwards of 50 guests at the wedding reception to testify. Thirty-one of the guests were served official subpoenas and are scheduled to testify as the court case continues this afternoon.

Little Chute Man Suffers Injury In Freak Accident

A 24-year-old Little Chute man was taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Appleton Sunday evening following an accident in the White Swan Bar parking lot at State 114 and County Trunk BP in the Town of Menasha.

Floyd B. Kieffer, 724 Adams St., was taken to the hospital in Lindy's ambulance after he was pinned against the steps in front of the White Swan by a car driven by Earl E. Fenner, 22, 801 Lynch Ave., Appleton.

Fenner's car was parked with the front bumper over the bottom step and Kieffer asked Fenner to move the vehicle backwards so he could get down the steps. Fenner reportedly missed before the four-women, two-men jury, that guests were supposed to have eaten 300 half chickens and six 11 pound hams.

Doctors at the hospital said it appeared Kieffer had a broken leg. There was no damage to the car.

School Workers Get 3 Pct. Pay Hike

Increase for Non-Teaching Personnel Approved by Board

A 3 per cent across the board salary increase for clerical, custodial and maintenance employees in the Appleton public school system was approved by the Board of Education Monday night. The change will take effect July 1.

The salary schedule adopted by the board after the recommendation of William R. Knuth, director of business affairs, fell somewhat short of the requests made by the steering committee of the School Maintenance Association. Krueger, Edward Tremmel and the welfare committee of Frank Lappen as specialists.

A request for a 5 per cent increase on the present salary schedule, to be divided evenly among the three top steps, was rejected.

A request for a provision of $2,000 group life insurance policy, with the board paying 50 per cent of the premium, was rejected.

Insurance Fees

A contribution of $9 per month to the family plan hospital-surgical insurance premium was approved rather than the present $4.50. The single plan contribution will be increased from $1.75 per month to $2.25 monthly. Under the family plan at present rates, the janitress, $3.80 and half-time employe will pay $9.81 monthly, janitress, $2.100.

Employee Salaries

Business Administrator Alvin Weehler answered a question pertaining to county employee salaries by stating salaries range from a low of $300 per month to an approximate high of $1,000 per month. In answer to the question, he said the county payroll was "a little below average for counties."

Students who had collected in the hallways prior to the afternoon question session had indicated they had "many" questions for Sheriff Calvin Spice, but when called upon from the audience, the questions were slow in coming.

One written question asked "Who corrects the sheriff if he does wrong?" and Spice stated the governor is the only official who can remove the sheriff.

"However," Spice said, "I am often corrected by the citizens if I do wrong. I am an elected official and the citizens can show their dissatisfaction by not voting for me."

In answer to one question about the change in the beer drinking age, Spice said he was in favor of a 19-year-old beer drinking law "throughout the state." He said he favored the 19 year age, "to keep the beer out of the high school."

NEENAH — An informal sharing of ideas on programming for elementary schools and cursory reports from the four sub-committees of the citizens elementary school survey committee made up the meeting Monday afternoon and evening at Horace Mann Junior High School.

Henry Young, general chairman of the lay committee making the study of the Neenah Joint School District's elementary school needs for the next 10 years complimented the 26 men and women who are gathering information.

George Verhage, president of the Neenah board of education which created the lay committee study, thanked members for service to the schools and community and welcomed the four officials from the state department of public instruction who took part in the background information meeting.

Set Tenor

Specialist in their fields, Robert Van Raalte, Fred Overmann, Leo Hilfiker and Robert Wheeler, commended the board and committee for their projecting of school needs and said the offices of the department of public instruction welcome openness and greater use of their professional skills. Curriculum content must provide techniques for retention and include basic content for all and content for special talents, according to the film.

A school building must be designed to make more use of technology. At the turn of the century industry and schools both spent 75 per cent of funds for building and 25 per cent for tools. Today industry has reversed its position, using 25 per cent for buildings and 75 per cent for tools but education remains the same.

More Flexibility

Van Raalte, assistant state superintendent, said that more flexibility, more space, ample storage room and learning centers for special subjects like science need to be developed at the elementary level within the next 10 years.

A playlet "Watch What You Say" will be presented by a group of sixth grade children from Roosevelt School, Neenah. Taking part in the play will be Mindy Brown, Jennifer Smith, Don Shepard, Scott Mosher and Curtis Smith. Mrs. Angela Huebner is directing the play.

"Chop Suey," a skit, will be presented by Miss Mary Ann Kalista, Miss Myra Hall and Miss Marguerite Keys of Kaukauna. Hostesses for the dinner will be Miss Carol Walker, Miss Rosaire McElroy and Miss Emma Mueller.

Audio visual experience at the elementary level should be a part of the total learning experience. Wheeler, state supervisor of that department advised. This means that for the most part audio visual aids should be used in classrooms.

During the next 10 years two major aims will be uppermost in the minds of educators: to retain the self-contained classroom and to handle the explosion of knowledge at the elementary level, predicted Overmann.

Although it is estimated 40 per cent of an elementary school child's time will be spent in individual study by the time 1975 rolls around, Overmann clings fast to the aim that elementary children need to identify with a teacher right up through grade six.

Cold Weather, Snow Return To Wisconsin

Thermometer to Dip To 14, High Near Freezing Mark

Cloudy weather with an inch and a half of snow returned to Appleton and other parts of Wisconsin today, in sharp contrast to the bright sun and 40-degree temperatures of Monday.

Wednesday's forecast is for even colder weather, with the low dipping to 14 degrees and the high around the freezing mark.

The skies were clear early today in the extreme northwest but it was mostly cloudy elsewhere. Light snow was reported at Milwaukee, Eau Claire, Lone Rock, Madison, Beloit, Hurley and Oshkosh.

33 At Milwaukee

Temperatures at 8 a. m. ranged from 7 above in the Duluth-Superior area to 33 at Milwaukee.

The state's highest temperature reported Monday was 43 at Lone Rock. Other highs were Madison and Green Bay 41, Wausau 40, Burlington 39, Milwaukee and Racine 38, Beloit 36, La Crosse and Eau Claire 32, Park Falls 30.

The lowest temperature reported in the state Monday night was 5 degrees in the Superior area. Other lows were Park Falls 15, Eau Claire and Wausau 19, Green Bay 22, La Crosse 24, Milwaukee, Lone Rock and Madison 28, Racine 29, Beloit 31.

The highest temperature in the nation Monday was 82 at McAllen, Texas. The lowest was 5 below zero at Thief River Falls, Minn.

Another surge of cold air moved into the northern plains today and chilly weather lingered in much of the Southeast.

The nation's weather pattern showed only minor changes. Freezing temperatures extended to Northern Florida in the nearly week long cool spell in the Southeast. Readings were higher in Anchorage, Alaska, and in parts of New England than in Northern Florida. The 44 at Anchorage compared to 31 at Atlanta and 50 at Miami, Fla.

But the Weather Bureau said warmer weather was on the way along the South Atlantic and Gulf Coasts. Mild weather continued in the Pacific Northwest and temperatures in the 60s again were forecast for today.

The cold air from Canada dropped the mercury to near zero in the northern plains and snow flurries fell throughout the upper Mississippi Valley. Dry weather was reported in most other sections of the nation, with cloudy skies in the Great Lakes region, parts of Montana and Wyoming and along the Pacific Coast.

In Birmingham, Ala., the Weather Bureau said there had been only 2½ hours of sunshine since March 1.

World Population Mushrooms as Food Production Becomes Limited

Editor's Note — People are living longer, but throughout the world the means to feed a growing population is diminishing. There is grave concern that the paradox could lead to chaos in but a few years. The following second of five articles outlines the phenomenon of the world's population growth in terms of the world's ability to feed its people.

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN
Mankind has achieved a measure of death control, and the world's food problem becomes more critical every day. The crisis is today, experts say. To avert catastrophe a few years hence will require huge increases in food production.

Man has learned to control death through medicines and modern technology. Disasters no longer take tolls as heavy as in the past. Man even has achieved a balance of terror like Wonderland's Alice on her treadmill, running faster and faster just to stay in one place. If the situation is to improve, the world will need, in reality, 50 per cent more food in a decade.

Dr. Binjay Ranjan Sen, director general of the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization, recently told the Royal Commonwealth Society in London that overpopulation is the root of the problem. Yet a country would not be considered overpopulated if it used its resources properly.

World Population
Today, the world's population is estimated at 3.3 billion. At the current rate of increase there will be 4.5 billion on earth in 20 years, and by the end of this century, 6 billion, of whom 4.5

billion will be in the poor, predominantly nonwhite countries. Rich America is in no immediate danger from its population explosion. But the world the United States lives in faces serious dangers. For a third of the world, conditions have improved steadily and it gets richer. For two-thirds, conditions have deteriorated and it gets poorer.

Since 1959, world agricultural production has managed to keep up with the annual 2 per cent world population growth, but no more than keep up. There is little margin left, and where the need is greatest, the expansion of food production has been slower than the world average.

Experts estimate that by 1975 the world will need a 35 per cent increase in food production just to keep pace with present subsistence levels. Thus, man is like Wonderland's Alice on her treadmill, running faster and faster just to stay in one place. If the situation is to improve, the world will need, in reality, 50 per cent more food in a decade.

Dr. Binjay Ranjan Sen, director general of the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization, recently told the Royal Commonwealth Society in London that overpopulation is the root of the problem. Yet a country would not be considered overpopulated if it used its resources properly.

"With few exceptions there is not a country in the world which could not double and feed its population — if it had time," says Dr. Raymond Ewell, a food expert at the State University of New York in Buffalo.

Time Problem
But time is the big problem. India, for example, is likely to increase in population to 700 million in 15 years. She cannot possibly produce enough to feed 200 million extra mouths. Even the rich United States would have vast trouble nourishing 200 million added people.

Japan intensively cultivates the little land it has and gets enormous yields through efficient methods. India's land is inefficiently used.

Yet Japan is concerned about zooming population. It has increased 22 million since the end of World War II. She has no room for the prospective 15 million more which will be there by 1980 unless a birth control campaign which has been instituted in Japan applies a brake.

Red China
No figures are available for what has been happening in Communist China. It has had some improvement in production but not enough, probably, to keep step with population growth. Elsewhere in the East, food production has lagged.

Evidently Peking is concerned. It has called in Japanese family planning experts to examine the problem, an un-Marxist step. But China can see the light ahead only if her population stays at a level which can be sustained by her resources.

Chinese agriculture is hard pressed to keep step with population increases even now. In lean years of natural disaster, there were reports of famine. China has looked hungrily at other people's land, including even that of the Russians.

Weather Problems
In the U.S.S.R. and Eastern Europe, adverse weather and Communist bureaucracy have interfered with production. In Latin America, food production per person declines steadily as the population explodes at the world's highest rates. As population goes up, so does demand for food, adding a new threat — inflation.

Death control compounds the problem. Experts warn that there will be steadily more old and working-age people competing economically. Population increases thus can gobble up products warrant that they are economic improvement and profit for their intended use. The vent progress against the over-law implies this guarantee all problem.

Economic development is a key to food problems, but death control interferes. Egypt, for example, when it completes a defective carton and cut an Aswan Dam project, hopes to shopper's foot badly. The shop have millions more acres to culper could not show the courtivate. But the rise in popula that the soda water seller was tion could cancel out new

North America
Production has increased greatly in North America and injury, the manufacturer had developed areas. But even if the breached his warranty, the United States were to undertake container was not fit for its feeding the whole hungry world — which theoretically it might

State Bar of Wisconsin be able to do — there would be enormous economic and social problems in the way. The U.S. Department of Agriculture predicts that food deficit regions will gain only slightly in the years immediately ahead and will be obliged to make up differences in imports. By 1970, the chances are that America will have to provide at least half the deficit, mostly from her own enormous surpluses.

Amount of Social Security Benefits Told by Official

It is quite generally known that the amount of the social security benefit is directly related to average monthly earnings under the program. Many people, however, do not realize how many years are used in arriving at this average, according to Frank M. Donnick, district manager of the Appleton Social Security office.

There seems to be a popular idea that the benefit is based on the five highest years of earnings. "This is not true," Donnick said. How many years are used depends upon when the worker reaches age 62 (for women) or age 65 (for men).

There is a simple formula which can be used to find out the number of years which will be averaged in a particular case. Count the number of years beginning with 1951 up to the year you reach age 62 (for women) or age 65 (for men). From this number subtract 5. The number remaining equals the number of years that will be used. For example, suppose that a man will reach age 65 in 1967. Subtracting 5 from the 16 leaves 11 years, the number of years which will be averaged for this man.

Years After 1950
The years to be used can be selected from any year after 1950 and do not have to be consecutive years. Years after age 62 (for women) and age 65 (for men) can also be used if they are years of higher earnings. Earnings before 1951 will be considered if a higher average results. When the years before 1951 are used, the average must be taken over more years than when only years after 1950 are considered.

Once the number of years to be used is known, it is easy to arrive at the average monthly wage upon which the benefit will be based. The total earnings for the high years selected

Opposing Reds Portuguese Try to Hold Mozambique in Grip

BY NICHOLAS C. ASHESHOV
LOURENCO MARQUES, Mozambique (AP) — Intent on maintaining a centuries-old grip on its East African province, the Portuguese government has launched massive counter-measures against Communist and antiwhite infiltration in Mozambique.

During the past nine months, army patrols have made regular sorties against terrorist gangs. Troops are fortifying the remote northern sector bordering on the newly independent state of Tanzania.

Northern Mozambique is one of the most strongly guarded areas on the African continent. Drawing heavily on experience in their other territories of Angola and Guinea, the Portuguese are moving to stamp out rebel activity.

Buildup Secret
Authorities refuse to disclose the extent of the buildup but taking baths. Or maybe that isn't a phobia. Maybe they just don't like 'em.

I don't believe phobias. We may be astonished, or amused easy to explain. Some are afraid of real, and few are common, like fear of lightning, and some are uncommon, like levophobia, a fear of one's left side.

Authorities refuse to disclose the extent of the buildup but

There is no physical explanation for this. It is psychological. It is claustrophobia, or morbid fear of enclosed places.

How phobias develop is not easy to explain. Some are afraid of open spaces, of water, of germs, of all sorts of things. There are more than 250 identified phobias. As examples, some people are afraid of being afraid. Or afraid of cold, or cats, or choking. Theophobia is being afraid of God, if you can conceive of such a thing. But it occurs. There's a condition called hydrophobia, meaning you're afraid of hydrophobia, and balancing it over can give you reassurance. Who's closer to you, missiles. There are phobias involving snakes, sleep, colors, fire, heights, ideas, crowds, thunder, trains, bees, dogs, devils, odors.

There's even auroraphobia, meaning fear of the northern lights. And phobophobia, which is fear of one's own fears.

Many Phobias
So, my 14-year-old friend, you aren't alone. There's hydrophobia, which means a fear of moisture, but I can't find a term for small boys who are afraid of

I think you can overcome this difficulty if you can "talk it out" a little, and recognize what it is and why in particular it bothers you just now. As you grow older and more mature, this sort of thing tends to disappear, provided you don't make too much of it now.

Dear Dr. Molner: A year ago I had a blood clot in my leg and still have phlebitis. I am troubled with pain and swelling at certain times of the month. I am in my early 20's and would like another child. What effect does phlebitis have on pregnancy? — Mrs. P. J.

I would be the other way around. What effect does pregnancy have on phlebitis? The answer is that the phlebitis probably would flare up, so discuss this thoroughly with your doctor before attempting to become pregnant again.

Dear Dr. Molner: For the last three months my arms have hurt, especially the left one. The doctor said it is arthritis. I was afraid it was my heart and still think it is. I am 33, and he told me women didn't have heart attacks until after the menopause.

What do you think? Should I try another doctor? — Mrs. B.G.

It is true that heart attacks are rare in women before menopause, and I can't understand why you are so intent on looking at the gloomy side. No, I don't think you should see another doctor. I think you ought to be. The number remaining equals the number of years that will be used. For example, suppose that a man will reach age 65 in 1967. Subtracting 5 from the 16 leaves 11 years, the number of years which will be averaged for this man.

A good way to start is to select an investment goal which seems most likely to fit your needs. (1) Ask your registered representative about dividends to supplement your regular income. (2) Or perhaps you're more interested in growth in the value of your stock. (3) Possibly a combination of dividends and growth. (4) Or bonds, which frequently offer greater safety for your money and more stable income from interest.

Of course you want to brighten your financial future. But first things come first—living expenses and a reserve for emergencies.

Finally, ask your broker for facts about a company's earnings, dividend record, its announced plans for growth, and for an opinion of its potential. He's not infallible, but perhaps he can add a point of view which has escaped you.

The risks and rewards of investing go hand in hand, of course. That is why it is so important to know that there are both right and wrong ways to go about it.

Sales a Good Future If You're Good at It

BY SYLVIA PORTER
"Go into business for yourself. Earn $10,000 a year part-time, up to $50,000 a year full time. No experience necessary."
These are the tantalizing lures being dangled before millions of potential door-to-door salesmen and women today, and you well may be considering responding. Already, there are more than 15 million men and women who are earning part or all of their income selling goods and servyou expect to earn as a direct salesman or woman today? What are the basic points you should know about the business? Who should and who should not attempt direct selling?

From the National Association of Direct Selling Companies in Winona, Minn., top association in the field, come these realistic answers for you:
— Earnings. Typically, you can expect to earn $30 a week in commissions from part-time selling. If you work full time and have luck, you'll average $100 or more a week. If you're willing to put in a hard six-day week, you will may earn $200 — or about $10,000 a year. A dogged minority of "born" salesmen manage to pull down as much as $35,000 annually.

Women, who represent nearly half of all direct sellers today, earn at least as much as men do, a recent NADSC survey shows, and the typical part-time college student salesman carrying a normal academic load makes about $25 a week.
— Advantages. You're in the business for yourself and can set your own work load and time schedule. You need no capital to start (and, incidentally, beware of the company that asks you to make a big investment in sales equipment before you begin). You need no experience. You can get in and out of this business quickly — as many do.

— Cautions. These are not so obvious. If you're thinking of accepting the lures, weigh with utmost care the following main requirements:
(1) You must really like selling and really like dealing directly with people. Sincerity is most important.
(2) Your chances are best if you are the open, friendly type

(3) You do not, though, have to be brash and aggressive. Plain politeness has far more sales appeal than fast talk.
(4) You cannot afford to be easily discouraged. As a salesman, you'll face countless "I don't want any" retorts. You must not take them personally if you want to keep your balance and sense of humor.

(5) You must be willing to work hard for a decent return and to put in plenty of weekends and overtime. Any individual who has made a success of direct selling will testify that it's hard labor.
(6) Cardinal rule of all is that you should not put your faith in direct selling as a career until you have tried it and had an opportunity to judge your own potential.

"There are many people," warns the NADSC, "who couldn't sell a $5 bill for $1. Direct selling is a good way to go broke if you're not suited for it."
Door-to-door selling is unquestionably a way to build a small business, to earn money part or full time to supplement your family income or your retirement pension. But ask yourself, and be honest with yourself, do you measure up to the requirements demanded?

Changes in State Income Tax Laws Discussed by Expert

This is the second in a series of 12 articles written by a widely known tax authority concerning the problems of the Wisconsin income taxpayer. The series, with questions and answers, is based on typical problems presented to the author from day to day in his practice as a certified public accountant.
BY NORMAN E. SCHLEY
For The Associated Press

Certain important changes were made to the Wisconsin income tax laws which are applicable for years beginning after Dec. 31, 1963. Wisconsin newspapers recently carried a report that a large percentage of the persons over 65 who were entitled to the new property tax relief for the aged were having difficulty properly completing the necessary forms. Briefly stated, in order to obtain "homestead tax relief credit," the taxpayer must have been 65 years or older during the entire year 1964, have been a resident of the state for the entire year and received "household" income of less than $3,000. Household income refers to the entire combined income of all persons related to you by blood or marriage living under one roof. Credit is not available if you are receiving county relief under either the aid to the blind or old age assistance, or aid to totally and permanently disabled persons. More information concerning the homestead tax relief law and the computation of the credit will be detailed in another article in this series.

Under New Law
Under the terms of the new law, the definition of a dependent has been liberalized for years beginning after Dec. 31, 1963. Under the new law, it is no longer necessary that a dependent be domiciled in the State of Wisconsin to be claimed as a dependent by a Wisconsin taxpayer. Withholding tax simplification Plan Repeat Rights Action At Kansas U.

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Undaunted by the arrest and suspension of 130 students, the Civil Rights Council at the University of Kansas planned another round of demonstrations today to protest alleged racial discrimination in sororities and fraternities.
A sit-in Monday at the office of Chancellor W. Clark Wescoe prompted a mass arrest and led to a protest march by more than 400 students on the chancellor's residence Monday night. Among those arrested were Gayle Sayers, All-America football player, and George Unseld, former basketball player who was an All-Big Eight selection last year.

St. Norbert Psychology Department Gets Grant

A grant of $3,045 to the St. Norbert College psychology department for continued research on an experimental learning process was announced by Very Rev. D. M. Burke, O. Praem., college president.
The grant, made by the Hill Family Foundation of St. Paul, Minn., is for a research project begun last year by Dr. Wescoe's research is based on the premise that students' emotional reactions to the material they are to learn can be improved by having to teach it

Answer: Yes. Your acquisition after Dec. 31, 1963, makes this property subject to all of the new fast depreciation rules. Preparation of the return.

Beginning Jan. 1, 1964, new calendar year wages paid in depreciation rules have become more effective. These rules apply to business who require depreciation on property to carry on their income-producing activities. More details will be included in the earlier another article.

ices ranging from animal feeds to mutual funds. Already, there are an estimated 3,000 direct selling companies in the U.S. grossing a record $3 billion a year.

Basic Points

What's more the field is expanding rapidly. We are putting unprecedented stress on convenience and growing increasingly willing to pay for it. Our soaring numbers of retired people are turning to door-to-door selling as a way to add to their basic pensions and our skyrocketing numbers of college students are turning to it to help pay their tuitions. More and more housewives are taking on part-time selling jobs to supplement their family incomes, while more and more schoolteachers and seasonal workers are looking to direct selling to keep them working around the calendar.

Lawrence University Receives $1,500 Grant For Scholarship Fund

Lawrence University has received a $1,500 grant from the Texaco Aid to Education program, which will be added to the scholarship fund according to President Curtis W. Tarr.
Texaco's support to higher education was established in 1956, and takes several forms — a direct scholarship program for 300 students, either at the undergraduate or graduate level, at 80 colleges and universities and annual unrestricted grants to 150 colleges and universities. Lawrence's award falls in the latter category. In addition, grants are made for projects of particular importance to the company.

Youthful Musician Unplugged, Undone

BELMONT, Calif. (AP) — The "Knight Riders" a youthful rock 'n' roll group were blasting a tune Saturday night when an irate woman stomped up to the bandstand around 1 a.m. "I told you you can't stay up this late," she shouted at a 16-year-old guitarist, unplugging him from the wall socket and leading him out by the ear.

6:30-7:30 (Channel 11) — Don't miss Combat, which comes up with one of its best scripts of the season in "The Long Wait." Terry Carter, an impulsive truck driver with a cargo of bleeding GIs, wants to push through enemy lines to get his men to the hospital.

7:30-8 (Channel 11) — Ensign Parker becomes a widdle boy again on McHale's Navy. The cherubic-faced sailor reverts to when he was 10 after a bump on the head and thinks of the Navy as his old "Camp Chinna-pookie."

7:30-8:30 (Channel 2) — "Guzzler's Gin," one of comedy's most devastating sketches, is finally unveiled by its creator, on the Red Skelton Hour. The redhead is also joined by Ed Wynn and the two comics romp through a resume of their most memorable moments in show business.

7:30-8:30 (Channel 4-5) — Bobby Vinton, the nimble throated singer, is all over the place on Hullabaloo (COLOR)

8:30-9 (Channel 11) — There are a lot of unanswered questions on Peyton Place Among the puzzles: Why does Paul leave his murdered mother's diary on Elliot's desk? Why is Dr. Rossi's nurse so vehement about Betty working in the hospital? And, for gosh sakes, why is Allison dating Rodney again?

9-10 (Channel 2) — "Where There's Smoke" on The Doctors and Nurses never really gets on fire. It's a highly melodramatic piece of nonsense concerning women patients at Alden General who think the corridors are start Monday when the director-creeper with molesters and founder of Minneapolis Guthrie, under every bed is a bogeyman. Theater, Sir Tyrone Guthrie, appeared at Oshkosh's Civic Auditorium for a lecture.

9-10 (Channel 11) — Jack Klugman turns a tough, seemingly roughshod villain on The Fugitive into a man of volatile interest in "Everybody Gets Hit in the Mouth Sometime."

Entertainment Still Abloom in Fox Valley

Flamenco Artist, Famous Actor, University, Community Theaters Scheduled to Perform

BY JINGO

The pace set by the first week of March will continue this week as theatergoers in the Fox Cities enjoy one of the busiest seasons in recent memory.

While the northern section of the Cities dominated the first week, this segment of the attractions moves farther south, but with no let-up in the goings on.

The week got off to a stellar start Monday when the director-creeper with molesters and founder of Minneapolis Guthrie, under every bed is a bogeyman. Theater, Sir Tyrone Guthrie, appeared at Oshkosh's Civic Auditorium for a lecture.

The fabulous Midwest reperi-ly roughshod villain on The Fugitive into a man of volatile interest in "Everybody Gets Hit in the Mouth Sometime."

Rumors along the Rialto contend that Campbell is likely to take over complete charge of the Minneapolis theater in the near future.

Carlos Montoya

Tonight the "foursquare Gypsy" Carlos Montoya will appear at Oshkosh's Civic Auditorium as the third attraction in the prestigious Town and Gown Concert Series.

The Tuesday to Wednesday transformation will take theatergoers from flamenco to community theater when the Oshkosh Community Players open their run of "Cloud 7" at the Grand Theater.

Oshkosh drama becomes twofold for the rest of the week as Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh opens its run Thursday of George Bernard Shaw's "Heart-break House" at the campus Little Theater.

UW Center Play

The week comes to a climax on Sunday when the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center stages its afternoon premiere of Aristophanes' "Antigone" in the Center Fine Arts Room. This production has several extras.

House Debate on Drug Bill Begins

3 Youngsters Die When Old Mine Collapses

Were Hunting for Coal When Timbers Released Rock Fall

HARLAN, Ky. (AP)—A sack containing perhaps 50 pounds of coal lay near a body, mute evidence of tragedy that befell three youngsters searching for fuel in an abandoned mine.

The three sons of miners were crushed beneath a 75-ton rock fall that fell on them Monday.

Miners and pickets, who often patrol this southeastern Kentucky coal field in labor disputes, worked together in a rescue party that dug against the danger of another roof cave-in to remove the bodies.

Dead are Rodney Gross, 17; his brother, George, 12, and their cousin, Tommy Gross, 13. Ralph Gross, 15, brother of Rodney and George, lagged behind the coal seekers and escaped.

Shored Roof

The 15 to 18 rescuers constantly shored the three-foot high mine roof to reach the bodies.

Bob Shoemaker of the Harlan Daily Enterprise said miners attributed the fall to rotten timbers that braced the roof and to effects of freezing and thawing weather.

The mine, about eight miles south of here, was abandoned five or six years ago but was not sealed. A mine inspector said red danger warnings were posted around the entrance.

The boys went to the mine Monday afternoon, presumably to gather coal for their families. Rescuers labored five hours before the last body was recovered.

Football Player To Testify on Utah Civil Rights

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — Roy Jefferson, Negro football player was expected to testify today to racial inequality in Utah during a demonstration outside offices of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Civil rights leaders said Jefferson would tell of inequities in employment and housing and would be joined by others who would present public testimonials.

The testimonials were expected to climax the third day of demonstrations in front of the Church headquarters.

John Driver, president of the Salt Lake City chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said the testimonials were prompted by "an attitude expressed" by N. Eldon Tanner, second counselor of the first presidency of the Church.

Driver said Tanner told him: "I don't know of any problems or indignities being suffered by Negroes in Utah."

Measure Was Major Proposal in President Johnson's Message On Stemming Crime In U. S.

BY HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House begins debate today on a measure which would crack down on the bootleg traffic in and to intensify our crime prep pills and goof balls, cited by President Johnson as a major factor in American crime.

A vote is expected Wednesday on the measure to tighten federal controls over depressant and stimulant drugs, specifically barbiturates and amphetamines. Little appears to stand in the way of House passage for the bill, approved unanimously by the Interstate Commerce Committee.

"Senseless killings, robberies and auto accidents have resulted from the radical personality changes induced by the indiscriminate use of these drugs," Johnson declared Monday in his special message on law enforcement and justice.

Mail-Order Guns

The President asked Congress to outlaw mail-order sales of guns and crack down on organized crime, as well as stem the underground flow of dangerous drugs.

His message ran into some criticism from House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford who complained it had "many earmarks of seeking to create more federal control over states and cities."

Johnson said the way to check the crime rate, which has doubled since 1940, "is to give new recognition to the fact that crime is a national problem — down on the bootleg traffic in and to intensify our crime prevention and crime fighting on all levels of government."

Crime War

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., author of bills to control the drug traffic and the mail order sale of firearms, said Johnson's message recognized the nation is "at war with crime."

The House Commerce Committee approved the drug control bill late last month.

The Food and Drug Administration estimated that half of the nine billion barbiturate and amphetamine doses produced annually slip into illicit channels.

"Social Toll"

Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., chairman of the Commerce Committee, described the drug measure as "a good bill, a strong bill." The ranking Republican on the committee, Rep. William L. Springer of Illinois, urged passage to stop "the terrible social toll."

It would strengthen control over drugs found to have "a potential for abuse," from manufacturer through the distributor with increased record keeping and inspection requirements.

Not Outside Activities

Remember to Educate, Educator Tells Colleges

CHICAGO (AP) — American colleges and universities must guard against getting so involved in outside activities that they forget their real purpose of educating students, a noted educator said today.

Dr. Logan Wilson, president of the American Council on Education, said, "if all the outside demands were met, nobody would be left on any campus except students and custodial workers."

Wilson, in a prepared address to the 20th National Conference on Higher Education, added:

Public Concern

"Whether it be eliminating poverty, reducing unemployment, improving morals, or getting a man on the moon, institutions of higher education are being drawn into a multitude of public concerns.

"Administrators and many faculty members are likely to be drawn into a gamut of peripheral service activities having to do with everything from the local chamber of commerce to the most distant foreign country."

Wilson said higher education should not "engage in the futile endeavor of trying to be all things to all men."

Can't Do

There are some things, he said, that colleges and universities just can't do. They can't transform native

Arson Wanted on List of Federal Racket Crimes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department asked Congress today to add arson to the list of federal racketeering crimes.

Atty Gen Nicholas Katzenbach said the proposal is aimed at fighting increasing interstate fire for hire operations.

In letters to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and House Speaker John W. McCormack, the attorney general said there is growing evidence that organized crime groups are using arson specialists to collect millions of dollars a year in insurance.

The bill is the first of a series of measures the Justice Department will send Congress in line with President Johnson's crime message Monday.

Union Still Torn

Basic Steel Starts Pact Talks Anew

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Labor, age the union won after the 116-negotiations in the basic steel day strike in 1959.

industry resume today in an atmosphere of drama heightened by a May 1 strike date.

The United Steelworkers Union, still torn by an internal leadership struggle that forced a two-month recess in the talks, has three times refused to extend the deadline.

That leaves only 53 days for the union to reach agreement with 11 major steel producers on contract demands, including such issues as "dignity on the job" and total job security.

The union says the 53 days provide plenty of time.

Meeting Monday

Some 150 union negotiators met Monday for last-minute instructions from President David J. McDonald.

Later, McDonald declined to make a statement.

A steelworkers spokesman said McDonald made a "passing and matter of fact" reference to extending the contract deadline.

The spokesman quoted McDonald as saying that such a decision could be made only by the union's 170-member wage policy committee. That would require a called meeting and none is planned.

The union last December presented the industry with some of the broadest demands in the history of their collective bargaining.

Neither side put a price tag on them, but the industry said they were too high. The industry set a 2 per cent ceiling which is about midway between the settlement of 1962 and 1963 and below the 40-cent hourly pack-

Giant Computers May Eliminate Need for Cash

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Thomas J. Watson Jr., chairman of the International Business Machine Corp., says giant computers someday may nearly eliminate the need for cash.

Addressing the National Automation Conference Monday, Watson foresaw machines that could maintain individual bank account information in their electronic memories.

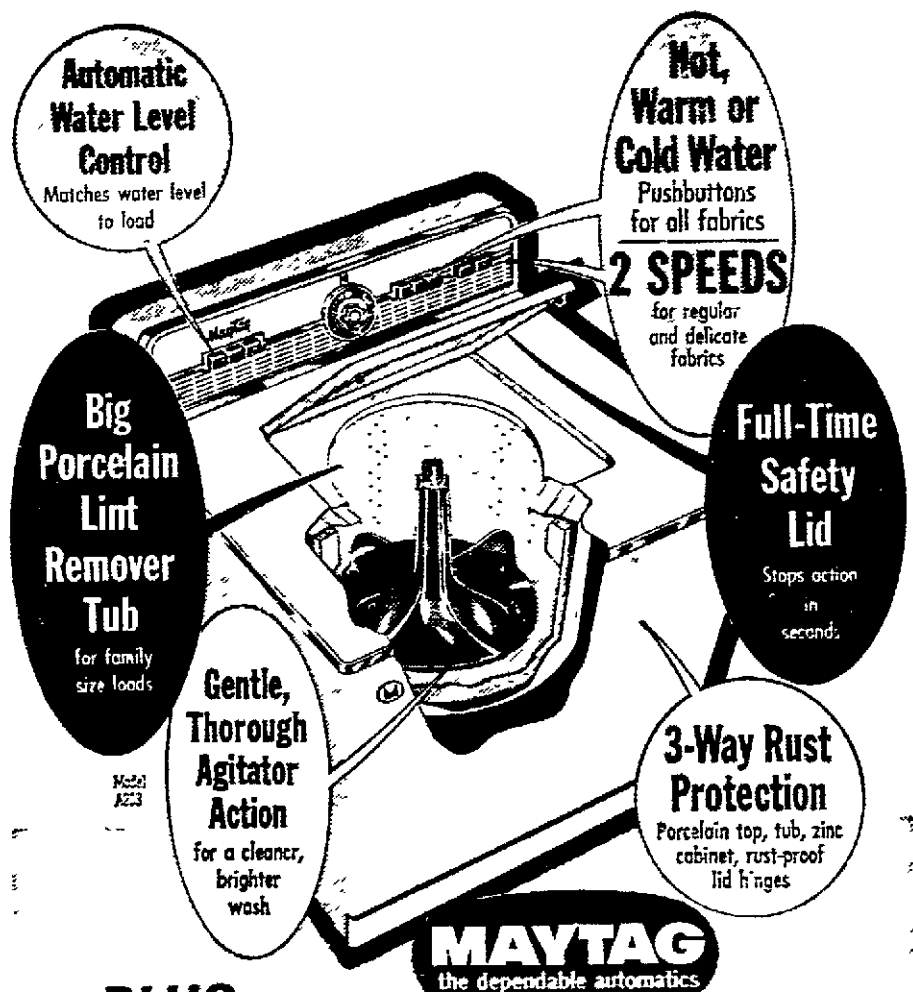

A store customer could, he said, insert an identification card into a computer terminal and punch out a withdrawal with the amount of his purchase. The amount would instantly move from the customer's account to the store account, he said.

Knowles' Tax Plan Certain To Start Legislative Fight

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — Round 2 of the year's battle about state tax policy has begun with the presentation of the Republican administration's revenue proposal which allows ample room for maneuver with the Democratic opposition in control of one house of the legislature.

As nearly everyone expected, Gov. Knowles today presented a combination of more sales taxation and higher personal income years ago in a similar argument-clothing and drugs, personal and with Democratic Gov. Reynolds, professional services, and the in- which obviously paves the way gradients involved in manufac- turing on both sides, turning or in farm production. The Democrats can and almost cigarettes and motor fuel which surely will demand a higher are already heavily taxed under state administration's revenue boost in the income tax rates. existing excise tax laws.

The governor did not say so explicitly but it is likely that he asked for higher income taxes reluctantly. Republicans in the past have held that the state's income tax scale, ranking high among the states, may become dangerously high with respect to the competition among states for industry and business develop- ment.

The governor's plan follows the policy of preceding Demo- cratic administrations of "flat- tening" the rates, meaning that the increases are imposed upon each bracket of the tax scale, without changing the maximum 10 per cent levy. That will have the effect of increasing the exactions from the middle and lower income taxpayers. The new beginning rate, on the first $1,000 of taxable income, for example, would be two and one half per cent under the new bill.

The Knowles proposal for the first substantial boost in the taxation of beer in more than 30 years might have been intro- duced with a sophisticated eye for the political loyalties of Democrats. Especially in Mil- waukee Democratic circles, more taxation on beer has been unpopular and both former Gov. Nelson and Reynolds were de- serted by Democratic legisla- tors when they asked for such a boost.

The Knowles plan would raise about $3,500,000 a year by doubling the one dollar per barrel tax on beer. The increase would be applied only to beer produced for consumption in Wisconsin and small breweries turning out less than 15,000 barrels a year would be exempt.

New Bill Asks Ban on Practice Of Sterilization

Spotlight Turns on Welfare Policy for Mental Defectives

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON—A new bill in the legislature asking for the absolute prohibition of sterilization operations on mental defectives in state institutions has turned the spotlight on a little-known program.

Although the state has permitted such sterilizations under strictly limited conditions for more than half a century, the program has been little discussed or publicized.

The proposal to repeal the sterilization law comes from Assemblyman Frederick P. Kessler, a young City of Milwaukee representative.

Since the original statute was written in 1913 slightly under 2,000 sterilization operations have been performed upon mentally defective patients in state institutions, after consultation of physicians, members of the families involved, and institution heads.

None Last Year

The records show a wide variation in the frequency of such operations for the prevention of procreation. During the period from 1933 to 1949 they were comparatively numerous and numbered more than 75 a year. Lately there has been a sharp reduction and during recent years they have numbered only a handful each year. Last year there were no such operations in the state institutions for the mentally defective.

Says the state welfare administration:

"The department's practice in administration of this program has been for many years to require that before any operation is performed positive, affirmative agreement from the parent, spouse or guardian is required, and indifferent or negative response to the proposal for an operation has been regarded as sufficient to negate any sterilization procedure."

Bus Line Asks To End Service

Vernon Wickman, operator of Lake Shore Lines Bus Co., has petitioned the Wisconsin Public Service Commission to discontinue service.

The PSC has set March 24 at 11 a.m. as time of the hearing in the courthouse at Manitowoc.

The bus line's headquarters is Manitowoc.

Lake Shore Lines provides services to several communities in the region, including Chilton, Brillion, Manitowoc, Appleton, Valders, Reedsville, Whitelaw, St. Nazianz and Fond du Lac.

St. Joseph, Providence '5s' Post NCAA Tourney Wins

Notre Dame Drops 99-98 Overtime Decision to Houston

BY BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Michigan, with Cazzie Russell on the bench, lost one that really didn't matter and Princeton, with Bill Bradley in the drivers seat, won one that mattered very much, indeed.

The mighty Wolverines, the nation's top-ranked college basketball team, found themselves assured of the Big Ten title and the accompanying NCAA tourney berth and had All-America Russell ailing going into Monday night's regular season wind-up with Ohio State.

So Coach Dave Strack sat Russell on the bench. Re-ut - a 93-85 Ohio State upset the top game in a scattering of regular season activity.

Princeton, meanwhile, got a typical clutch performance from Bradley. Player of the Year and a two-time All-American in edging Penn State 69-52 and leading the advance of five teams through first-round activity in the far-flung NCAA tourney.

Bradley, who had 22 points, six assists and nine rebounds, scored six clutch points in the last 2½ minutes as the Tigers held off Penn State in the first game of a triple header at Philadelphia, with all winners advancing to the semis of the East regional tourney.

Ken Rosemond Named Georgia Cage Coach

ATLANTA (AP) — The University of Georgia's new basketball coach, Ken Rosemond, says he plans to concentrate on defense.

"To me, in the past three or four seasons particularly, this phase of basketball has been badly overlooked," Rosemond said Monday night in a stopover at the Atlanta Airport en route from Athens to Chapel Hill, N.C.

Rosemond, an assistant coach at the University of North Carolina and a member of the Tar Heels' national championship team in 1957, was named new Georgia coach Monday. He replaces Harbin (Red) Lawson, who retired because of ill health.

"A lot of boys may think that defense is no fun," Rosemond said, "but what I would like to get across is that through defense you get the ball and the chance to shoot and score."

Warriors Suffer 13th Straight Loss at Home

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Other teams leave their hearts and take their victories from San Francisco. But the National Basketball Association squad that calls Civic Auditorium home would rather just leave.

The San Francisco Warriors now have lost 13 straight there, since last Dec. 20, including an 111-102 thrashing Monday night by the Baltimore Bullets.

The Warriors, defending Western Division champions, proudly moved from the Cow Palace into their new home at the start of this season and lost the first nine games they played there.

In handing San Francisco its 36th loss in the last 40 games, the Bullets moved to within a game of clinching third place and the last playoff spot in the Western Division.

Mrs. Minten From Kimberly

Wife of Knights' Captain Enjoys Honeymoon at Tourney

BY LEN WAGNER
Post-Crescent News Service

KANSAS CITY — Carol Minten is sharing her honeymoon with a basketball team. And she says, "I love it . . . I mean I've never done anything like this before," which is quite understandable. Carol is the wife of Dave Minten, captain and spark-plug of the St. Norbert College basketball team which won the state small college championship and is now competing in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics Tour-nament here this week.

Mrs. Minten's unique situation stems from the fact that she and Dave were married last Sept. 5, just a week before school started. "We had to get our apartment fixed up, so we just didn't get to go any place," Dave, a 6-0 guard who has provided the fire that brought the Green Knights to this prestigious tournament, recalls. But Carol, a pretty, brown-haired lass with crystal-clear blue eyes, adds, "actually, we didn't have any money either."

Degree in Biology

Mrs. Minten, 21, is the former Carol Wyderen, of Kimberly, and she and Dave had been dating since the time he was a sophomore and she a freshman at Kimberly High School. Dave will graduate from St. Norbert this year with a degree in biology but will return for one term next year to earn his practice teaching credits so he can enter the teaching and coaching field.

Meanwhile, he commutes every day from Kimberly, where his wife is the secretary at Kimberly-Clark Corp. which means that Carol gets to see her husband about as much as she sees him down here.

She doesn't really mind though, even if this is her honeymoon.

"I know Dave is down here for basketball," she says. "I'm just glad to be along. Really didn't think they would let me come."

Dave, however, was way ahead of her on that score. It was on a mid-season trip to Loras College in Dubuque, Iowa, that St. Norbert Athletic Director Mel Nicks was needing two newly-engaged members of the team about wasting money buying diamond rings when they could get by one just a wedding band. Minten popped up to point out, "See how smart I was. I saved money by not going on a honeymoon and promised my wife I'd take her along to Kansas City."

Nicks retaliated, "By gosh, if we go to Kansas City, you can take her along."

Ill Clemente To Rejoin Bucs This Month

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Outfielder Roberto Clemente of the Pittsburgh Pirates is recovering from malaria at his home in Puerto Rico, and it will be sometime later this month before he can join his teammates in spring training here.

This was the gist of a telephone conversation Monday between General Manager Joe L. Brown of the Pirates and Clemente's Puerto Rican physician.

Check of Scores Gives Winnebago Victory Over KRA Archers

KIMBERLY — The Kimberly Recreation Association archery team has been notified by the secretary for the State Archery Association mail matches that a check of scorecards has revealed an error in a match between the KRA and Winnebago archers.

Instead of the match ending there had been "an unusually large demand in the last two weeks for group orders."

"That 1,000 is excellent when compared with other major of league teams," Selig said. "The Winnebago and Outagamie and vice-president respectively. Phillies, for example, sold 1,500 County Archery Club share the of the group of business and season tickets last year and lead now with 8-0 records. civic leaders organized to ob- wound up with an attendance of 1,500,000 That proves once more KRA defeated Racine, 3.136 to tain a major league baseball franchise for Milwaukee after that the ball club you put on the Braves move to Atlanta in field is your best salesman."

Jackson Looks Ahead, Eyes 20 Victories in '65

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — Larry Jackson of the Chicago Cubs, that a player on a pennant-winning pitcher in the tender would get more attention, was so successful last season he'd just as soon "You just have to learn to be satisfied as long as you pitch."

"When you get up that high," Jackson said he believed he pretty difficult to top it. Nobody was helped by the Cubs' policy wins more than 24 or 25 now- of having the pitchers report days, so you just try to forget with the rest of the players, not about last year and try to win another 20 this year.

"And you can't count on any- thing I pitched the same as be- fore but last season I got a lot of breaks, we scored more runs for and instead of winning 14 games I won 24."

The statistics bear Jackson out. In 1963, he had a spectac- ular 2.35 earned run average and wound up with a 14.18 record. Last season, his ERA jumped to 3.14 but he compiled a 24-11 record while entering the 20-victory circle for the first time in a major league career that spans 10 seasons.

Dairyland League Slates Meeting

The Dairyland Baseball League will hold its first meeting of 1965 at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Seymour VFW club.

A rumor is afloat that Pulaski may apply to the league for admission at this meeting. Currently, the league is comprised of 10 teams.

Cecil won the first round title in 1964. Five teams — Bondjuel, Garrow, Navarino, Nichols and Seymour — tied for the second half champion- ship. First place trophies were awarded to each of the six teams by a vote of league directors.

Principals in the Selma, Ala., voter registration drive: Top, Dr. Martin Luther King, left, who plans to lead a protest march from Selma to Montgomery today, and Gov. George Wallace, who said his three-day ban on the hike still stands. Bottom, U. S. District Judge Frank Johnson, left, considering an NAACP request to restrain state troopers and sheriff's police from stopping the march, and U. S. Atty. Gen. Federal Judge Bans March in Alabama

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — A federal judge banned a massive right-to-vote march today by Negroes and white clergymen after a huge buildup of state troopers in this racial battleground.

U.S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. at Montgomery in a surprise move ordered Negroes to refrain from trying to march the 50 miles from Selma to Montgomery, the state capital. Johnson, who had been requested to bar interference from state and local police, said the court should have "a reasonable opportunity to make a judicial determination as to the respective rights of the parties in this case."

State Police
Shortly before his order came down, about 300 state troopers rolled into Selma where Negro marchers were dispersed Sunday by the troopers using clubs and tear gas.

But already there had been reports that the highway hike might be delayed until later in the week. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., leading the Negro voter drive, had called a news conference.

The Negroes were ready for a massive procession to the Dallas County Courthouse in Selma in what would be the biggest demonstration in the voter drive.

The troopers stood by at a National Guard Army on the western edge of Selma. It was the greatest force of the club-carrying troopers since Gov. George C. Wallace's stand in the doorway at the University of Alabama in 1963 in a futile effort to block integration there.

New Orders
Only about 250 state police were left to patrol Alabama's thousands of miles of highways. One source said that the huge force of troopers poured into Selma were under new orders from Wallace to refrain from beating the Negroes—an action

Residents of Selma Afraid; Tension Mounts

People Wait for Passions to Erupt In Violent Acts

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — The grim spectre of racial unrest stalks through the wide tree-lined streets and riverbanks of this uneasy city.

The people of Selma are afraid. They have watched simmering passions finally explode into violence in one bloody encounter between civil rights marchers and state and county police.

They are fearful of another. The mobilization of hundreds of restless Negroes for another attempted 50-mile protest hike to Montgomery just two days after Sunday's outbreak left little time for tensions and tempers to subside.

Freedom Songs
From the Negro community came a swelling chorus of "freedom" songs and a renewed determination to continue the civil rights struggle.

But with them came murmured threats of reprisals despite the constant appeals for non-violence from Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and other Negro leaders.

The litter of broken glass and bricks hurled at sheriff's deputies in the wake of Sunday's clash and the threats heard here and there in doorways gave evidence of what one civil rights leader, James Webb, called "the natural desire of these people to retaliate."

Rights Leaders
But civil rights leaders emphasized again and again their policy of passive resistance.

There was increasing unrest also among the white residents of this century-old city famed throughout the south for its Civil War landmarks.

White bystanders gathered along the four-lane highway and cheered lustily while club-swinging state troopers charged into the marching throng of Negroes Sunday and drove them back with tear gas.

Still, in the seven weeks of almost constant Negro demonstrations for equal voting rights and a spreading boycott of white merchants, there has been no open clash between the races in Selma, only between

Beloit Students To Participate in Alabama March

BELOIT (AP) — A group of eight Beloit College students plan to participate in today's scheduled 50-mile march from Selma, Ala., to Montgomery in protest of alleged discrimination in voting rights.

The group, which includes John McCaul of Madison, left the Beloit campus early today for Chicago where they were to take a plane southward.

Another Beloit group planned to leave the campus around 11 a.m. today for a 50-mile hike to the state capital in Madison in sympathy with the Selma group.

Birch Society Chief Charges Civil Rights Movement a Red Plan

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Robert Welch says the civil rights movement is part of a Communist plan to drive a wedge between Americans and to establish a "Negro Soviet republic in the southeastern United States."

The founder of the John Birch Society, here for three fund-raising speeches, told a news conference Monday.

The plan was devised in 1929 by Communist leaders who said that "Negroes in the South are to be considered exactly as if they were a colony of suppressed natives."

The plan's object, said Welch, is to "stir up trouble and demand an independent Negro republic . . . and then advance the Communist cause."

New Revenue Needed to Balance Record 2-Year Budget of $832 Million

MADISON (AP) — Gov. Warren P. Knowles formally proposed today that Wisconsin meet its 1965-67 money problem with a combination of sales tax extensions and income tax increases that would raise $128.8 million in new revenue.

The amount would balance the record $832.8 million budget Knowles has recommended and provide about $20 million to pay for additional programs.

About two-thirds of the new funds, or $85.2 million, would come from a broad extension of the three per cent sales tax. A one-fifth of one per cent increase in income tax rates presentation was prompted by Democratic demands for an immediate tax bill.

Knowles had wanted to continue bipartisan negotiations on a compromise measure, and clearly indicated he did not appreciate being pushed into the new approach.

Avoid Stalemate
"Although I feel this request will delay the process of compromise, we must avoid any possibility of a political stalemate," he said.

The Republican governor said he had discussed the bill with several GOP legislative leaders, but that Democrats had not been shown a draft.

Knowles prepared the bill for introduction to the Joint Finance Committee and said he would ask that it be offered for initial debate in the Senate. The Finance Committee now is holding hearings on the budget bill, which the governor said he hoped would be joined with the balancing tax proposal.

Spending Programs
Combining budget and revenue proposals has forced legislators in past sessions to cast their vote for the taxes needed to pay for the spending programs they favored. Knowles said he wanted his budget and tax bill joined because this was a "responsible approach."

The Legislature's Democratic leadership told Knowles last Monday. He said the sudden and rather unusual method of

U.S. Marines Dig-In On Slopes of Hills Overlooking Airbase

Hawk Missiles Will Occupy Space Above Security Force

HILL 327, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Marines moved today onto the slopes of this hill commanding the defense of Da Nang air base, thus becoming the first U.S. ground combat units to take to the field in the Viet Nam war.

A company of the 3rd Marine Battalion provided close security for Marine engineers repairing three miles of road to the top of the hill. A large force of Marines and Hawk anti-aircraft missiles soon will be dug in on top.

No Contact
There was no contact with the Viet Cong as the Marines marched off the airbase and moved along a muddy road bordered with lush rice paddies to the 1,950-foot hill. Vietnamese rangers were stationed in the surrounding area for outer security.

The Marines' move was the first they made off the base since first elements of the two Marine battalions began landing in this Viet Cong-infested area of South Viet Nam Monday.

They wore combat packs and armored vests. Some lugged light machine guns or rocket launchers and ammunition.

Unloaded Guns
None of the Marines had clips inserted in their weapons. A sergeant said the men were still too jumpy. They were under orders to load their weapons only if shot at.

There are no plans at present to use the Marines as regular combat units. So far their only role is defense inside the base perimeter and on Hill 327. This role will involve patrolling. Viet Cong elements often have been reported on the hill.

Dillon Plans To Quit His Cabinet Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon plans to resign no later than March 31, it was learned today.

Dillon is counting on a vacation of four or five months before returning to his Wall Street investment banking business.

He has served 12 years in government — as an ambassador, as a diplomatic troubleshooter and as undersecretary of state. He has been secretary of the treasury since January 1961.

Speculation has centered on Donald C. Cook of New York, president of American Electric Power Co., as Dillon's successor.

Final Action Expected Today On DST Bill

MADISON (AP) — Final legislative action on a bill extending daylight saving time a month was to be taken today by the Assembly.

The bill provides that the daylight saving period begin with the last Sunday in April and end the last Sunday in October, instead of the last Sunday in September.

Final consideration came only after rural representatives' repeated attempts to block the legislation failed.

The bill would have moved to a final vote last week immediately after preliminary approval, but rural Assemblymen rejected. The vote for preliminary approval was 66-30.

Colombia Army In Search for Kidnaped Boy

$250,000 Ransom Asked for Son of Rich Industrialist

MEDELLIN, Colombia (AP) — The Colombian army joined in the search today for the 8-year-old son of one of the country's richest men, kidnaped and held for $250,000 ransom. Police said they were confident of finding the boy within 48 hours.

Carlos Mejia Flores, son of industrialist and rancher Santiago Mejia Herrera, was dragged away by five men Monday while with a group of school companions. Mejia is reportedly worth $30 million.

Police arrested a 14-year-old boy in a church near the scene of the kidnaping and held him as a suspected accomplice.

Reward Offered
One of Carlos' schoolmates, shown a photograph of a man known to have taken part in previous local kidnapings, said he was one of the men who snatched Carlos. The Mejia family offered the schoolmates the cost of their education if they would help find the boy.

The government offered a $5,000 reward.

Civic associations of Medellin set up a committee to look for the child. Ten light planes were to drop leaflets over the city of one million with photographs of the boy.

At least 10,000 men, including soldiers and police, were mobilized for the search.

Another kidnaping took place Monday in Bogota, Colombia's capital. Two gunmen invaded the home of Mrs. Gloria Gomez de Pardo and took her away.

She is the daughter of a retired general and the wife of a doctor.

More Marines Due in Da Nang

Washington Ponders Utilization of Navy's Powerful 7th Fleet

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Four more plane-loads of U.S. Marines were due in Da Nang today as the landing of 3,500 Leathernecks to strengthen the key air base's defense neared completion.

About 2,500 Marines landed Monday, some in C130 transport planes and others storming ashore from landing craft in heavy surf. They dug in around the base, the prime staging area for air strikes against North Viet Nam and Communist supply routes through Laos.

Arriving with the Marines were several Marine helicopters which flew ashore from a carrier off the coast.

U. S. Air Force and Navy jets patrolled the skies to meet any Communist response to the landing of the two Marine battalions. An air strike was ordered against a herd of 20 elephants sighted 12 miles northeast of Da Nang. Military officials felt the Viet Cong might be using the lumbering beasts to haul arms for an attack on the base.

In Washington, U.S. officials considered whether to authorize the powerful 7th Fleet to concentrate on intercepting the movement of arms and men by boat from Communist North Viet Nam to the Viet Cong.

Family of Five Killed in Blast

WOODBRIDGE, Ont. (AP) — An explosion and fire ripped an apartment above a wax factory today, wiping out a family of five.

The dead were identified as Fred Burnett, 33; his wife, Zelma, 21, and their three children, Bobby, 3; Terry, 2, and Shelley, 1.

The cause of the explosion was not determined.

West Germany Called Tool of U.S.

Arab Nations Discuss United Action Against Erhard Regime

CAIRO (AP) — President Gamal Abdel Nasser hurled epithets at West Germany as representatives of the Arab nations gathered in Cairo today to discuss united action against the Bonn government for offering to establish diplomatic relations with Israel.

Accusing Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's regime of "betrayal, treason and treachery," Nasser told a cheering crowd Monday that West Germany is "a dependent country and a tool in the hands of imperialists."

"I have never seen people so insolent in my life," Nasser declared. "They say Nasser is paving the way for communism, they, the world's worst imperialists. They deceive the people. They are liars. They said they were not giving arms to Israel but all the time they were. They have no honor, no conscience."

Combined Front
Nasser called for strengthening of Egypt's armed forces and a combined Arab military front against Israel.

"It is not logical that 2 million Jews should be equivalent to 100 million Arabs . . ." he said.

"None of the Arab states should enter a war with Israel alone. If we did we would only suffer another defeat. We have to learn from our 1948 setback. And we must remember we will not enter Palestine on paths strewn with roses or spread with a red carpet but on ground soaked in blood."

Arab League
The 13-nation Arab League was called into urgent session today to discuss the West German action. Cairo's government-controlled press reminded the other Arab nations that they had agreed at a conference last September to break with Bonn if it established full relations with Israel.

Previous Arab agreements for unified action usually have not been carried out.

West Germany's offer to Israel was considered a reply to Nasser's red carpet reception for East German President Walter Ulbricht earlier this month, even though Bonn said the offer "was not directed against any Arabic state."

Personal Emissary
Erhard sent a personal emissary, Dr. Kurt Birrenbach, to Jerusalem for meetings with Israeli Premier Levi Eshkol and Foreign Minister Golda Meir.

Israeli satisfaction with Erhard's offer was lessened by his decision to stop the shipment of $16 million worth of arms to Israel last month in a futile effort to appease Nasser.

Indochinese Demand U.S. Withdrawal

PNHOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The anti-American conference of Indochinese people ended today by demanding U.S. military withdrawal from South Viet Nam. It also called for new international conferences on Laos and Cambodia.

Attended by 38 Communist and neutralist organizations, the conference did not call for a new Geneva conference to settle Indochinese issues as requested by host Cambodia.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong delegations rejected any negotiations on South Viet Nam before an unconditional withdrawal of U.S. forces.

Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodia's chief of state who was architect of the conference, spoke at the closing rally at Phnom Penh's 50,000-seat stadium.

Reports Denied
Denying reports that the conference had failed in its objectives, Sihanouk told the rally: "It is natural that our opinions diverge as to ways of assuring a return to peace in Viet Nam and Laos."

A Viet Nam resolution "approves the principle of letting Vietnamese people settle by themselves the issue of peaceful reunification of Viet Nam."

A general resolution criticized Britain, co-chairman of the Geneva conference, for refusing "without justified reason to convene a new Geneva conference, not only to recognize and guarantee neutrality and territorial integrity of Cambodia, but also for re-establishment of peace in Laos."

Knowles Seeks Higher Sales, Income Taxes

week that it would not continue to take an active part in the tax negotiations scheduled by him to reach some form of advance agreement on a revenue bill.

The governor called his proposal "an earnest attempt to provide a workable solution to our revenue problem," but said he still hoped for a resumption of bipartisan talks.

Knowles referred to his tax proposal as a "compromise bill," because "it takes a balanced approach to raising the necessary revenue, incorporating both an income tax and a sales tax, and therefore representing the philosophies of both parties."

Sales Taxes

Democrats have fought sales taxes as stubbornly as Republicans have opposed income tax increases.

Knowles' budget for the two years beginning July 1 leaves a revenue gap of $110 million. His tax proposal would raise about $20 million more than needed to balance the budget, but Knowles said the additional funds would be required to finance other spending measures on which there is general agreement.

On the added spending list are Negroes and law enforcement officers.

Mayor Joe Smitherman has congratulated the white community for what he called its "great restraint" and its willingness to let police handle the problem.

Racial Equality

Nevertheless, the continuing demand for racial equality and the economic pressure from the boycotting Negroes, who outnumber white residents in Dallas County, have left nerves jangled and tempers thin.

Rumors filled the city. The unproved stories led some troops to believe that federal troops were on their way to Selma; that U.S. marshals were standing by; that the city might be put under martial law.

The boycott left white merchants resentful; it touched off dissension among the Negroes, too.

A recent ward meeting brought complaints from one Negro who said he couldn't get prescriptions filled at a Negro drug store, another protested that grocery prices were too high in neighborhood Negro shops, and others wondered why they must be told which stores to boycott instead of deciding for themselves.

But most Negroes endured the inconveniences and the boycott held firm. Police received sporadic reports of threats and intimidations against those who continued to patronize white stores.

Police Probe Riddle of Man 'Drowned' Found to be Alive

TROY, N.Y. (AP) — State police hope to solve the riddle of Norman Briggs, a builder and insurance man when he was presumed drowned in 1960 and a ranch hand when reported alive almost five years later.

Rumors of Briggs' second life, as Clayton Hollister on the Ken Adkins ranch in Newcastle.

Briggs

Wyo., were confirmed Monday by an attorney for the missing man's parents.

What's in a Name? Initial Now Is Vital

BLOOMFIELD — The interrogatory adage of "What is in a name?" will be a deciding factor in balloting here for the east side supervisor post at the spring election.

The middle initial emphasis becomes apparent as William G. Winters, living in the southeast section of the township of Bloomfield, is opposed by William F. Winters, residing in the northeast section of the township. The two men each with addresses on route 2, Fremont, are vying for the position held by Henry Hardt, who is not seeking re-election.

The west side supervisor post is the only office with incumbent opposition in the township. Donald Hoelt present supervisor will be opposed by Charles Pufahl.

Edwin Smith and Louis Tietz will vie for the town chairman post, presently held by Albert Krenke, who declined renomination.

Elmer Zeichert and Rinold Grambsch were nominated for assessor, a position formerly held by Clarence Koehler.

Two unopposed incumbents will be Irwin Kobiske, treasurer, and Raymond Wendt, clerk who stated that the annual meeting in the township will be held at 1:30 p.m. at the polls during the April 6 election.

Also nominated at the Saturday caucus were Ole Christensen for justice of the peace and Henry Krause for constable.

"His parents know he is alive and have seen him," he said.

Briggs' mother said Monday night, "He wants to come back. I'm sure he will come home."

No Explanation

But there was no explanation covering the time Briggs vanished, June 17, 1960, to when Hollister was seen in Denver, Colo., last summer by a woman who attended Cornell University with Briggs. She notified his parents.

Hollister was unavailable for comment, and Mr. and Mrs. Adkins declined to talk about the 32-year-old man who has worked for them since last fall.

Briggs vanished, supposedly while scuba diving in the Tomhannock reservoir near here.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Briggs of Troy, said the father and another son visited him in Wyoming last August and they said he was in Troy at Thanksgiving.

Wife Remarried

Briggs' former wife, Gail, was remarried last August. She and Briggs had two children, Charles, now 8, and Barbara Jean, 5.

Gail, now Mrs. Earl A. Koenig of Troy, said Monday she did not learn Briggs was alive until told so by the Briggs' attorney, Pierce H. Russell, three weeks ago.

Mrs. Koenig said she will return about $120,000 she received from life insurance policies held by Briggs if Hollister is her former husband.

"As far as we're concerned it's a missing persons case," said State Police Lt. S. A. Chieco.

Troopers said the investigation into the disappearance has never been closed and their work will continue.

Shortly before Briggs disappeared, police said, he withdrew $500 from a savings account. His diving mask, eyeglasses, clothes and a Jeep were found near the reservoir.

Johnson Signs Appalachia Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signed into law today a bill authorizing $1.1 billion of federal aid for the 11-state Appalachia region.

Johnson said enactment of the measure marked "the end of partisan cynicism" in the problems of dealing with people.

Noting that the states, Congress and the Executive Branch worked closely in bringing the new law into being, the President said, "This is the truest example of creative federal-

Literacy Tests Legal Unless Used As Rights Dodge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Does a Supreme Court decision in a Louisiana case mean that literacy tests are out the window as a requirement for voting?

It does not, unless they are used as a dodge to keep Negroes or other minority groups from the ballot box.

Eighteen states have some form of literacy test, and in the majority of these no charges have been made that they have been used as an instrument of discrimination.

The Louisiana law voiced Monday permitted registrars to require applicants to read sections of the U.S. or State Constitutions and then give a "reasonable" interpretation.

Complaints were made that in many Louisiana areas a constitutional lawyer couldn't pass the test, that is, if his color were black.

The tests were given in 21 of the state's 64 parishes but they were stopped in 1962. The Legislature passed a simpler form of law in Alabama had been invalidated, involving multiple choice questions, but it did not repeal

Knowles Asks Brigade for 32nd Division

MADISON (AP) — Gov. Warren P. Knowles urged Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara today to place Wisconsin's 32nd National Guard Division under a separate brigade.

In a letter to McNamara, the governor said "We are firmly convinced that Wisconsin should have been allotted a separate brigade, rather than a division brigade of Minnesota's 47th Division."

The status of the Red Arrow Division was changed under the realignment plan for the Army National Guard.

The governor has no authority to veto the Defense Department's proposal for changing the Guard's status but can make a recommendation.

String Quartet Concert Set At Lawrence

Student Group to Perform Debussy, Haydn and Brahms

String quartets of Haydn, Brahms and Debussy will be the program, fare, at Thursday's Lawrence Chamber Series concert by the Vegh Quartet. The program will begin at 8:15 p.m. in Harper Hall at the Lawrence Music-Drama Center.

Quartet members are Sandor Vegh, first violin; Sandor Zoldy, second violin; Georges Janzer, viola; and Paul Szabo, cello.

Their program consists of the "Quartet in G minor, Op. 20, No. 3," by Franz Joseph Haydn; "Quartet in C minor, Op. 51, No. 1," by Brahms; and "Quartet in G minor, Op. 10," by Debussy.

Haydn's quartet, one of more than 80 he composed, was written in 1772 under the patronage of Prince Nicolaus Esterházy. The score dates from the period in which Haydn wrote the greater part of his orchestral and chamber works.

The Brahms quartet, dating from 1873, is the companion of the A minor quartet of the same opus number.

Debussy's score, first performed in 1893, is from the midpoint of the composer's career in which he produced "Afternoon of a Faun," "Pelleas et Melisande," and "Nocturnes," "Iberia," and "Le Mer."

The Vegh Quartet's appearance marks the second to last of the Lawrence Chamber Series concerts this season. Committee to Investigate Lake Michigan Water Plan

Officials From Fox Valley, Eastern Wisconsin Consider Creating Common Utility

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON—A committee of local officials representing Fox River Valley and eastern Wisconsin localities will be formed to consult with the State Board of Health in further exploration of the wisdom of turning to Lake Michigan to supply the municipal water needs of the area.

Nearly 50 representatives of those communities, representing nearly half a million residents in one of the rapidly growing districts of the state, Monday informally agreed to nominate members of such a committee which also will work with the Public Service Commission, the State Department of Resource Development and other interested state agencies.

The proposal came from O. J. Muegge, sanitary engineer for the State Board of Health, which is concerned about the current water supply problems of some of the municipalities. He said the board foresees more severe supply problems in future decades.

The local officials showed their interest in the tentative proposal by turning out in good numbers, but their discussion was largely confined to interrogation of the state government experts about the technical problems that might be involved in the creation of such a metropolitan water district, and the economic issues that might be associated with it.

Emphasizing that they have not explored the subject in depth, the state men said a Lake Michigan pumping station, with filtration equipment, transmission mains and other facilities, would be required.

Outagamie's Board Revamp Rejected

Rural Bloc Solid in Opposition

Proponents of a county government reorganization plan received a stunning defeat Monday afternoon when their proposal was overwhelmingly rejected on a 33 to 18 Outagamie County Board vote.

The defeat was a rejection of the county board's 11-man committee proposal for setting up an executive branch, reducing the number of county board members from 11 to 6 and upgrading the position of business administrator to executive secretary of the executive committee.

Opposition to the resolution primarily followed rural lines (see insert), with the exception of a group of Appleton supervisors including Mark Catlin Jr. (Appleton 7).

Catlin Objects

Catlin was outspoken in his criticism of the portion of the bill which combined committee responsibility and reduced the number of standing board committees to six.

Other supervisors opposed the bill because they opposed the method of the formation of the executive committee which would be made up of the chairmen of the six standing committees; because they felt the board should await action of the county government setup proposals in the State Legislature; or because they felt the new executive secretary's job would be "too powerful."

Urging a "yes" vote on the resolution, Supv. Eugene Kloes (Appleton 4) said, "County boards are under constant attack for their doing nothing. Reapportionment isn't the only thing that is going to give us better government, the man himself is important."

"The fact that county government functions at all is due to its master, the state."

Speech Course To be Offered At Waupaca

UW Will Sponsor 8-Week Class in Public Speaking

WAUPACA — An eight-session series on public speaking will be offered by the University of Wisconsin Extension Division in cooperation with the Waupaca High School and County Extension office.

A meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Monday in the high school lobby to determine interest in a speech course in this area, Joe Walker, county agent, said.

The non-credit course will be open to anyone who has little or no previous speech training or little experience in public speaking. Instruction for the course will be provided by the University of Wisconsin Extension Division at Madison.

The course is limited to 20 students and must have 15 enrolled before it will be held. Walker said A $16 fee will be charged for the 16 instructional hours. Classes will be held either Monday or Thursday at evenings at the high school, and students will give several speeches. This is the reason for the limited enrollment.

If there is interest in this class, other courses may be arranged for the area in the future, Walker said.

Persons interested in the speaking course should plan to attend the March 15 meeting.

board chairman and five or six committee chairmen."

Supv. George Greisch (Appleton 3) admonished the plan's foes for "failing to see the light."

For county reorganization—Supvs. John N. Corcoran (Kaukauna 4), Harry J. Cunningham (Appleton 17), Russell DeLaHunt (Kaukauna 5), John Dietz (Appleton 13), Sylvester Esler (Appleton 16), Peter Farrell (Town of Kaukauna), George Greisch (Appleton 3), Donald Hoh (Combined Locks), Arthur Hoolihan (Appleton 11), Andrew Jimos (Appleton 2), Merritt T. Kavanaugh (Kaukauna 1), Eugene Kloes (Appleton 4), Arthur Lecker (Grand Chute), Patrick Mares (Appleton 19), Alvin Sasman (Town of Black Creek), John Schreiter (Appleton 6), Joseph Wevers (Freedom), and Alvin Fulcer (Kimberly).

Against county reorganization—Supvs. Frank Appleton (Appleton 5), Norman Austin (Oneida), Marvin Babbitt (Seymour 2), John Bartz (Appleton 1), Norman Beyer (Appleton 20), Cecil Carpenter (Maine), Mark Catlin (Appleton 7), Ervin Conradt (Bovina), Emil Diestler (Hortonville), Ivan Dunbar (Seymour 1), Al C. Fischer (Appleton 15), Walter Fredericks (New London 3), L. A. Grunwald (Black Creek), Patrick Heenan (Appleton 8), John Heide-mann (Buchanan), Norman Helms (Town of Seymour), Orval Jens (Center), Theodore Jens (Appleton 16), Walter Kilian (Maple Creek), Waldemar Klein (Appleton 14), George Kroes (Vandenberg), Walter Laedike (Liberty), Clarence L. Miller (Appleton 9), George F. Miller (Shiocton), Glenn Pelton (Appleton 12), Edward Peotter (Osborn), Stanley Perkins (Dale), A. C. Remley (Appleton 10), Chris Roepecke (Cicero), Emmett Root (Ellington), Gerhard Ruhsam (Hortonville), Rudolph Spreeman (Greenville), and Matt J. Verfurth (Kaukauna 3).

Not voting—Chris Peeters (Deer Creek); absent—Paul Kostka (Little Chute), Joseph McClone (Bear Creek) and J. W. Weyenberg (Kaukauna 2).

The basic structure of this plan is to have six solid working committees. All you are doing is delegating administrative responsibility so that you can concentrate on legislative matters. Your committee will still have a representative on the executive committee.

"Other county boards in the state have always looked to Outagamie," Greisch said, "so let us set a goal for the other counties in the state."

The executive branch proposal was defended by Supv. John Schreiter (Appleton 6).

"The duties of the executive secretary have been repeatedly spelled out during meetings of the 11-man committee. He shall carry out, on a day-to-day basis, the policies of this board."

Direct Challenge
"If this resolution passes, it cannot help but make us better supervisors because we won't be confined to just one area of county government, but two, three and four areas. It is a direct challenge to each of us to become better-informed supervisors."

Catlin chided backers of the bill who said their present committees already have been subdivided in some areas.

"It's amazing to hear all these men saying how well their committees are working," he said, "and yet they want to change it."

"Changes Are Wrong"
"There is good theory in this resolution when it comes to administration," Catlin said, "but the changes in committee structure are wrong. We have found over the years that our present committee setup works and we've never seen how six committees could work."

"There's an inference in this resolution that the members of this board haven't been doing their jobs. I say this is wrong. Before I vote for something, I want proof that it's going to work."

Kloes said to Catlin, "The whole county board went along with you without proof. $2.8 million worth of proof, when we supported you on the new airport bond issue."

An amendment was offered by Supv. Marvin Babbitt (Seymour 2) which called for formation of the executive committee by vote of the county board at its spring reorganization meeting, but it was ruled out of order by Corporation Counsel A. W. Ponath.

Cold Weather, Snow Return To Wisconsin

Thermometer to Dip To 14, High Near Freezing Mark

Cloudy weather with an inch and a half of snow returned to Appleton and other parts of Wisconsin today, in sharp contrast to the bright sun and 40-degree temperatures of Monday.

Wednesday's forecast is for even colder weather, with the low dipping to 14 degrees and the high around the freezing mark.

The skies were clear early today in the extreme northwest but it was mostly cloudy elsewhere. Light snow was reported at Milwaukee, Eau Claire, Lone Rock, Madison, Beloit, Hurley and Oshkosh.

33 At Milwaukee
Temperatures at 8 a. m. ranged from 7 above in the Duluth-Superior area to 33 at Milwaukee.

The state's highest temperature reported Monday was 43 at Lone Rock. Other highs were Madison and Green Bay 41, Wausau 40, Burlington 39, Milwaukee and Racine 38, Beloit 36, La Crosse and Eau Claire 32, Park Falls 30.

The lowest temperature reported in the state Monday night was 5 degrees in the Superior area. Other lows were Park Falls 15, Eau Claire and Wausau 19, Green Bay 22, La Crosse 24, Milwaukee, Lone Rock and Madison 28, Racine 29, Beloit 31.

Nation's High
The highest temperature in the nation Monday was 82 at McAllen, Texas. The lowest was 5 below zero at Thief River Falls, Minn.

Another surge of cold air moved into the northern plains today and chilly weather lingered in much of the Southeast.

The nation's weather pattern showed only minor changes. Freezing temperatures extended to Northern Florida in the nearly week long cool spell in the Southeast. Readings were higher in Anchorage, Alaska, and in parts of New England than in Northern Florida. The 44 at Anchorage compared to 31 at Atlanta and 50 at Miami, Fla.

Warm Weather
But the Weather Bureau said warmer weather was on the way along the South Atlantic and Gulf Coasts. Mild weather continued in the Pacific Northwest and temperatures in the

Little Chute Man Suffers Injury in Freak Accident

A 24-year-old Little Chute man was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital in Appleton Sunday evening following an accident in the White Swan Bar parking lot at State 114 and County Trunk BP in the Town of Menasha.

Floyd B. Kieffer, 724 Adams St., was taken to the hospital in Lindy's ambulance after he was pinned against the steps in front of the White Swan by a car driven by Earl E. Fenner, 22, 801 Lynch Ave., Appleton. Fenner's car was parked with the front bumper over the bottom step and Kieffer asked Fenner to move the vehicle backwards so he could get down the steps.

Fenner reportedly missed reverse and put the car into low gear. The vehicle rolled forward and pinned Kieffer against the steps.

Doctors at the hospital said it appeared Kieffer had a broken leg.

There was no damage to the car.

Phone Company Wants To Alter Rural Service

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The Wisconsin Telephone Co. wants to improve service for more than 530 rural customers of its Manitowoc exchange by eliminating eight-party rural service and expanding the Locality A, B and C areas of the exchange.

The proposed changes will bring about some rate increases, the State Public Service said, as it ordered a hearing on the proposal to be held at the Manitowoc County Courthouse on March 24.

60s again were forecast for today.

The cold air from Canada dropped the mercury to near zero in the northern plains and snow flurries fell throughout the upper Mississippi Valley. Wallace Again Uses Extreme In Rights Action

Alabama Chief
Earns Red Face
Through His Dealings

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — Alabama's segregationist governor,
George Wallace, did it again.

Twice, confronted with civil rights problems, he went to extremes, once with President
Kennedy and now with the Rev.
Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Both times he brought national embarrassment on his state.

He tried defiance with Kernedy. It was an empty gesture. He couldn't win, and he didn't.

He tried defiance again with King who planned a march of 450 Negroes from Selma to Montgomery, 50 miles, as a civil rights demonstration.

The purpose, when they reached Montgomery, was to petition Wallace to remove obstacles to the Negroes' right to vote in Alabama.

End Product

The end-product of Wallace's defiance was a disgraceful, brutal police action — the chasing and beating of the Negroes — which shocked the nation.

Yet if Wallace had used a little shrewdness, the march might have accomplished little.

King's non-violent expedition was to be a gesture to earn national sympathy and attention.

The police action couldn't have won the Negroes more sympathy and attention if King had planned it. He says he never expected what happened.

When he was sworn in as governor in 1963, Wallace pledged 'segregation forever.' He knew he couldn't make good on it.

That would have meant defying the federal government and courts. If he could get away with it, anyone could, and the result would be chaos.

Put On Act

Nevertheless, when federal courts ordered the University of Alabama desegregated, he put on a "standing in the schoolhouse door" act.

This was supposed to be defiance of the court. Kennedy called the Alabama National Guard into federal service and Wallace melted away.

Wallace had two choices when King announced the Selma-
Montgomery journey.

He could have permitted it, and even helped it, or he could smash it with police swinging nightsticks. He chose police and clubs. About 40 Negroes were hurt.

Fifty miles add up to a long march, not to be done in a day.
Before it started Wallace could have figured.

Ranks Thinned

Long before the Negro men and women reached Montgomery, their ranks would have been thinned by drop-outs.

And he could have deprived the marchers of drama by sending along police, not to smash the march but to guide traffic along the highway and protect Negroes from segregationist attacks.

King was supposed to lead the march but stayed in Atlanta, an act which must puzzle Negroes, particularly those who expected to see him up front.

But he said he would lead a second march today. This thanks to Wallace and the police would be against a different background.

Clergymen Join

From several states, scores of clergymen headed for Alabama to take part in today's journey.

Several members of Congress expressed outrage over Sunday's brutality with a Souther-ner, Sen. Ralph Yarborough of Tex., saying: "Shame on you, George Wallace."

And outrage at this time in Congress's bad news for segregationists.

The Johnson administration feeding Negroes' demands is preparing to send Congress a voting bill to give Negroes far more access to the polls.

Perhaps the most disturbing reaction, considering the source, came from Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which practices the non-violence
King preaches.

Negro Underground

He said he had asked President Johnson for troops, if necessary, to protect Negroes in Alabama today. The latter's alternative would be the organization of a Negro underground to fight back.

And Monday night policemen had to drag and shove about a score of civil rights demonstrators to get them away from outside the office of Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach in the Justice Department. They had refused to leave the building after closing time.

They were Negro and white youths demanding federal protection for Negroes in Alabama.

Registration of Autos Climbs In Outagamie

Area Counties Set
Substantial Increase
Record in 1964

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Auto mobile registrations in Outagamie and surrounding counties rose substantially during 1964 to establish new high records, the state motor vehicle department has reported.

The department said the 1964 automobiles registered reached 37,877 in Outagamie County, a gain of 1,424 over the previous year.

Other kinds of vehicles rose in proportion, and the total of all registered motor vehicles for the state reached 1,328,486.
Included were 1,439,191 automobiles, a rise of more than 55,000 over 1963.

These are the totals of autos and all vehicles registered in Fox Valley area counties for 1964, showing the county, number of autos and total vehicles:

Brown, 46,771, 57,639; Lumet,
8,262, 10,950; Fond du Lac, 27,803,
34,749; Manitowish, 27,579, 33,

No Chance for GOP Voice in Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep.
Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., said
Sunday President Johnson consults with the Republican members of Congress on foreign policy but does not give the GOP members an opportunity to state their own views.

Adequate bipartisan consultation on Viet Nam is not taking place at present, Laird said in a program filmed for broadcast over television station WROC - TV at Rochester, N.Y.

Laird, chairman of the House Republican Conference appeared with Rep. Barber B.
Conable Jr., R - N.Y., on the program.

"I think it's most important that we give the President of the United States all the support we can now as far as Viet Nam is concerned, because he is not getting support from members of his own party," Laird said.

Sen. Wayne Morse, (D-Ore.), has referred to the problem in Viet Nam as the McNamara war," Laird said. "I'm glad that it is not members of the minority party that are trying to raise the doubt as to the will of the United States to resist communist aggression."

Johnson called in six Republicans and six Democrats the day after his inauguration.
Laird said, to discuss foreign policy.

However, Laird said, the group listened to Johnson, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S.
McNamara for 2½ hours but the members had no opportunity to express their views.

"Bipartisanship in foreign policy requires consultation," Laird said. "The kind of consultation that is needed is not taking place at the present time."

Indonesia Schools To Get U. S. Books

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S.
officials said Monday the 60,000 books in the U.S. libraries and reading rooms in Indonesia may be turned over to universities in that country.

The United States shut down its information program in Indonesia last week after a series of mob attacks on its five libraries and reading rooms.

U.S. Information Agency director Carl Rowan said the Indonesian government's harassments became intolerable.

With no prospect of reopening the libraries in sight, U.S. officials said the best use of the thousands of volumes that have been sent to Indonesia over the years may now be through universities. They said discussions are under way on how to dispose of the books.

Representation Relationship
To be Changed

County Supervisory Districts Probably Will Alter City Wards

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Cities of Wisconsin must be prepared for some adjustments in the accustomed relationship of city wards in county government representation under the prospective reapportionment law for counties, the executive of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities reminded them today.

Ed Johnson, manager of the League, said most cities would probably welcome a system that would continue coterminous ward and county supervisory district lines, but warned that "this is not likely to happen."

Cities will be required under the law expected to be enacted soon, to establish county supervisory districts of reasonably equal population, which will mean that in urban districts it will probably be necessary to combine wards, establish precinct lines, or even revise ward boundaries "to come up with reasonable situations," he explained.

Begin Immediately
Johnson urged the county officials who will be responsible for the county board reapportionment ordinances to begin their studies immediately, in expectation of inevitable difficulties in meeting the requirements of the expected state law. The deadline for the formation of the new county districts will be next November, when candidates for the new county board seats are entitled to begin the circulation of their nomination petitions for the elections in the spring of 1966.

"The work should begin now and not be delayed until the deadline approaches. It is not going to be an easy job," he said.

Legislation is pending that would permit those cities which now have joint aldermanic-supervisor offices to continue such a system, at their option, by adjusting their city ward lines to coincide with the prospective county supervisory districts. Cities now using that plan include Green Bay and Vausau.

Lawrence Says

Judges Guilty of Finding Loops in Criminal Law

Technicalities Allow Release of Many Convicted of Crimes

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has made some useful suggestions in his message to Congress on how to conduct the war on crime in the United States. But there is one omission — how to get the judges of the country to stop using technicalities to release persons accused or even convicted of serious crimes.

For the last several days, the City of Chicago has been in a furor over the decision by Judge George Leighton, in the Criminal Court of that city, who ruled that two Chicago policemen should not have drawn their pistols while making an arrest. One of the policemen was severely wounded and spent 23 days in the hospital as a result of the attack. In releasing the two men accused of the crime, the judge said:

"The right to resist unlawful arrest is a phase of self-defense. What is a citizen to do when he is approached by two officers with a gun?"

The Illinois state's attorney, Daniel P. Ward, has come out publicly in disagreement with the judge. He says: "Defiance of a policeman's directions strikes at the very foundation of our society, which involves compliance with the law."

The Chicago Sun-Times, in an editorial, has recommended that Judge Leighton "should be transferred from the criminal division of the Circuit Court and assigned to hearing civil cases for the remainder of his term." The editorial added: "We trust his understanding of such cases is better than his understanding of criminal law."

Heard Shout

The facts in the case are that the policemen were in plain clothes, riding home, when they heard a shout that someone was trying to cut people with a bottle. They saw a man wielding a broken beer bottle. They drew their pistols as they identified themselves as police officers, and ordered the individual to drop the bottle. His reply was: "Come and get it, you blank-blank coppers." He jabbed the bottle into the face of one of the policemen when the latter tried to disarm him.

Illinois statutes say that a policeman "need not retreat or desist from efforts to make a lawful arrest because of resistance or threatened resistance to the arrest. He is justified in the use of any force which he reasonably believes to be necessary to effect the arrest."

Dictated Confession

Andrew Mallory, the accused, was apprehended between 2:00 and 2:30 p.m. the day after the crime. He at first denied guilt but finally confessed at about 9:30 a.m. The police tried to reach a U.S. commissioner but could not find one. An hour and a half later, Mallory dictated a confession to a typist, and he was arraigned the next morning. He was tried and convicted, but the Supreme Court held that Mallory's confession should not have been admitted at the trial because he had not been promptly arraigned as required by the federal rules of criminal procedure. The Supreme Court declared:

As a result of the Supreme Court ruling, Mallory was released from custody. Shortly thereafter, he was again arrested and sentenced to 60 days for attacking a female. Later, a state court gave him a long term for burglary and for assault on a housewife.

Widespread Comment

The Mallory case has occasioned widespread comment throughout the country. The Supreme Court has been criticized by members of the bar as well as by civic groups and others interested in repressing crime in America. Prof. Fred E. Inbau of the Northwestern University law school, for instance, said of the Mallory ruling:

"In my opinion, the release of such persons for the purpose of disciplining the police is going much too far."

Out of the Mallory ruling have come many other decisions by the courts releasing convicted persons on technicalities. The feeling is widespread among law-enforcement officers — particularly in the District of Columbia, where the Mallory case arose — that such rulings are hindering them in fighting crime and that criminals themselves are depending on technicalities to keep them from jail.

The latest case in Chicago, is regarded as one more instance of the courts' bending over backwards in protection of what is alleged to be the individual rights of persons accused of crimes, as against the rights of society.

County Reorganization Still Needed

The vote of the Outagamie County Board Monday rejecting a plan of reorganization which has been carefully studied and drafted over a two-year period is disappointing. But there is still a good chance the plan can be modified to meet objections raised in Monday's debate and still retain its essential features.

There was no criticism of the basic objectives of the proposal, only of the mechanics of accomplishing them.

Those basic objectives are to eliminate overlapping authority in the present 11-committee structure, to provide an efficient method of communication within the county board and its committees, and to turn over executive and administrative duties of the board and its committees to the county executive committee and the administrative staff so that the supervisors can concentrate on policy and legislative matters.

Supervisor Catlin raised objection to

Mr. Hutnik the Freeloader

Willis Hutnik of Rusk County and environs has a minor reputation in the legislature for ingratiating himself with his northern Wisconsin constituency with unrealistic proposals for prying special benefits out of the state treasury, and for publicizing himself as a champion of regional interests.

That is his business as an aspiring local politician. But he has carried his instinct for political log-rolling too far in his introduction of a substitute amendment to the Fox River Valley university authorization bill by adding a provision for a similar institution in the so-called Park Falls-Phillips area.

Mr. Hutnik is here indulging in what has long been known as pork barrel politics. We would not dignify his proposal with a mention, if he had offered it independently, as a separate proposition, and had been willing to let it stand upon its own poor merits.

What he has done in this instance, however, is to stain the original proposition, supported by professional educational judgment and rich statistical justification as it is, with his own publicity-seeking motivation. If Hutnik can call for a four year school in the tiny district in Price County, then others will be tempted to advance similar claims for equally doubtful localities elsewhere and the whole movement for improving the higher educational program of the state will run the risk of fatal ridicule.

The Pepper Martin Era

A particular baseball era came to an abrupt end last week when Pepper Martin died of a heart attack. For the benefit of younger baseball fans who never had the privilege of seeing him play, he was known as the Wild Horse of the Outage and he was the leader of the St. Louis Cardinals' so-called Gashouse Gang which terrorized the National League for a period of years in the 1930's.

Pepper was far from the most polished of third basemen or hitters or base runners. But he played with complete abandon and dedication. His method of fielding his position was to block anything that came his way with his barrel chest and then pounce on the ball like a big cat

Why Delay Boat Pollution Law?

Any effort to end pollution and clean up the results of decades of carelessness with our natural resources must of course take time. We cannot expect everything to turn pure and sweet overnight nor even immediate compliance with new laws. Wisconsin statutes have generally recognized this fact and made anti-pollution regulations flexible.

But the effort to put off compliance with the new boat toilet law for two years is unreasonable.

There are rumors that part of the reason behind the delaying tactic is not merely to make it easier for boat owners by giving them more time but that mere postponement of sewage may be acceptable. Another possible reason—waiting for other states to pass similar laws—is foolishness

Looking Backward

New Bedstead, Cabinet Factory

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for March 11, 1865.

Mr. D. Blish and Mr. J. M. Eggleston of this place, have bought out Mr. T. W. Brown's interest in the factory owned by "Robinson, Eggleston & Co.," and associated themselves in business capacity, will thoroughly refit the establishment and proceed to manufacture in large quantities bedsteads and cabinet ware.

Mr. Blish is one of our energetic young men, who, by his industry and integrity, has won the good faith of the community as well as that of the general trade. For the past two years he has been in the employ of E. S. Turner, who owned the chair factory at the north end of the bridge across the street from Outagamie Mills and located on the site of the present Fox River Paper Mill on the east side of the Oneida Street bridge.

Mr. B. was foreman most of the time. His thorough acquaintance with the business and good reputation for fair and square dealing will necessarily ensure him the confidence and a large share of the public trade in his line.

Mr. Eggleston is one of our oldest citizens, whose word is as good as his bond. Pleasant and upright in his dealings and business transactions, customers may rely on work being turned out satisfactorily.

The new firm has secured two of the best mechanics in town, so that their articles of manufacture will be the best guarantee of what they can and intend to do.

25 YEARS AGO

Tuesday, March 5, 1940.

Mrs. Leigh S. Wolfe was elected president of Chapter B of the P. E. O. Sisterhood. Mrs. Guy Carlson was elected vice president; Mrs. Ralph V.

The original proposition for the provision of additional four year college-level educational opportunity came from the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education, after prolonged study and after a thorough examination of the population trends of the state, past, present and prospective. The Committee concluded that pressures upon existing institutions from current enrollment trends, plus prospective enrollment demands from northeastern and southeastern Wisconsin during the next ten years, fully justified the planning of new four year schools in the Fox Valley and in the Racine-Kenosha district, in that order.

The same long-range Coordinating Committee blueprint asked for additional branches for freshman-sophomore instruction through the University of Wisconsin and the state university system, a broadening of the vocational school program to fortify post-high school occupational training, and an experimental program of three comprehensive community colleges with two year course offerings in collegiate transfer work and in technical training. Nowhere in those voluminous studies was Mr. Hutnik's favorite town mentioned. He is making a very poor joke, and if there is any sense of justice or propriety in the legislative political system, it should earn him the resentment of all his colleagues who are in earnest about higher education planning.

to wheel it to first. He invented the head-first slide. The height of his glory came in the 1931 World Series when he slashed out 12 hits and stole 5 bases.

Pepper was as colorful off the field as on, a constant challenge for Manager Frankie Frisch. Casey Stengel summed it up this way: "Baseball never had a greater hustler than Pepper Martin. He always gave 100 per cent of himself at the very least. Sometimes it almost seemed that he gave more. He did everything with such violence and such speed. He was so lively that he got the reputation of being a hell raiser. I thought he was more of a fun raiser."

What baseball needs today are more players like Pepper Martin.

If we wait for uniform regulations we'll have very dirty streams indeed.

The rapid increase in the number of small boat users on our lakes and streams has been one amazing change in recreation in Wisconsin as in much of the rest of the country. In two years there may be half again as many boats cruising—and dumping raw sewage. The pollution in lakes and streams also is increasing. The fault is not entirely with boat toilets but certainly they contribute

The costs of installing facilities to hold sewage that can later be disposed of upon shore had been variously quoted as between $500 and $600. Surely it is not too much to ask of boat owners who after all are major seekers of clean water for fishing and swimming.

Fischer Should Have Checked Facts on Ambulance Service

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Ald. Al C. Fischer (15th Ward) in a recent Post-Crescent article claimed that I am operating my ambulance service (Lindy's Ambulance Service) from my residence located at 1825 South Oneida Street, in violation of the Appleton zoning ordinances.

If Ald. Fischer had only taken the time to investigate the facts, he would not have made such remarks. A simple investigation on his part would have revealed that Lindy's Ambulance Service is operated from 1335 South Oneida Street, in complete conformity with the City of Appleton zoning ordinances and regulations. Subsequent to my acquiring the business property above referred to, I petitioned the City of Appleton Planning Commission in 1956 to rezone the premises from single family residential to local business. The Planning Com-

Landis, recording secretary; Mrs. J. R. Whitman, treasurer; Mrs. Ben Wadsworth, guard; Mrs. George Nixon, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Homer Gebhardt, chaplain.

Members of the Appleton Woman's Club Chorus working on the public card party were Mrs. C. C. Hervey, Mrs. R. F. Schultz, Mrs. L. F. Boyle, Mrs. M. O. Knoke, Mrs. F. H. Richmond, Mrs. Fred Bendt, Mrs. F. J. Leonard and Mrs. Ray Peeters.

Mrs. Arthur Wittmann, Darby, entertained members of the Homemakers Club at a 12-30 dinner at her home. Those present were Mrs. Henry Probst, Appleton; Mrs. George Schaefer, Sherwood; Mrs. Hugo Wittman, Mrs. John Dietzen Sr., Miss Hildgard Wittmann and Miss Angela Wittman, all of Darby.

Mrs. C. A. Bauerfeind was hostess to the Neighborhood Five Hundred Club at Black Creek. Winners for the evening were Mrs. Harry Hartsworm, Mrs. Herman Schmaling and Mrs. I. J. Wiekesberg.

10 YEARS AGO

Tuesday, March 8, 1955.

Officers of the area musicians' union, Local 337, American Federation of Musicians, were Ray Brock, Little Chute, president; Herbert Eiten, Appleton, vice president; Henry Gleisner and Carl Given, both of Appleton, secretary and treasurer.

Heading the women's organization to solicit funds for Appleton Memorial Hospital was Mrs. Glenn E. Pelton. The group was composed of 2,000 women known as the teams division of the current campaign. Assisting Mrs. Pelton were eight vice chairmen—Mrs. Ralph O. Bohl, Mrs. Harley Splitt, Mrs. Herbert Crane, Mrs. Arnold Evans, Mrs. Franklin D. Farver, Mrs. H. J. Weller and Mrs. Avenill J. Wiley.

Wayne Wendlandt, Menasha student at Lawrence College, reigned as King of Hearts with his queen, Miss Betty Willis, student from Rockford, Ill., as the Mardi Gras party given by Alpha Delta Pi sorority at the Memorial Union.

mission, on March 7, 1956, approved my re-zoning request, and subsequently, on March 21, 1956, following a public hearing, the Appleton Common Council approved the action of the Planning Commission. The re-zoning of the premises became effective on June 14, 1956, and still is in full force and effect.

My position in this matter has been sustained by Building Inspector Charles A. Magnette in a recent letter to the Appleton Board of Public Works that no grounds exist for legal action against my ambulance service with regard to an alleged zoning violation. City Attorney Frederick E. Froehlich has concurred with Building Inspector Charles A. Magnette in this position.

Ald. Fischer further states that there have been instances, according to the Post-Crescent article, where one ambulance service has received preferential treatment over another when authorities call for such service. However, he fails to state which service has received the preference.

To the best of my knowledge, it has been the policy of the Appleton Police Department to rotate emergency calls for ambulance service in the event of an accident, every other month, with each respective service receiving all of the calls for any given month. The Outagamie County Sheriff's Department rotates the calls for each service for every other call. The only exception to this general policy by both the Police and the Sheriff's Department has been in the event that a private party involved in the accident requests authorities to call a specific ambulance service. In that event, the authorities properly adhere to the wish of the person requesting the specific service. That policy, in the opinion of Lindy's Ambulance Service, has been a fair and just policy, and I hope that it continues in the future.

It has always been Lindy's Ambulance Service policy that, in the event a call comes in from a private party involved in an accident, in which authorities are called during the period of time that my service is not to be called, my organization representatives have been instructed to call the proper authorities and report to them that a call has come in from an accident scene from a private party and would the authorities be kind enough to double-check to make sure that two separate ambulance services are not going to respond to the same call. I trust that recent events have now clarified the situation regarding my alleged violation of the Zoning Ordinances of this city by Ald. Fischer.

Treatment at Appleton Hospital Highly Praised

Editor, Post-Crescent:

This is a letter I feel must be written. It's the only way I know how to say "thank you" to a large group of very nice and considerate people—the staff at Appleton Memorial Hospital.

Everyone I had contact with during a recent stay at Memorial—nurses, nurses aids, the business staff, and the volunteer ladies with the carts—couldn't have been nicer to me and more thoughtful of my welfare.

All of us are certainly fortunate to have in our midst such an efficient hospital staffed with such thoroughly competent people.

Fight All Gone From Rural Legislators on Daylight Saving Issue

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Nothing lately has illustrated so effectively the changing complexion of state politics as the extraordinary legislative vote in support of the extension of the daylight saving time law.

Wyngaard

It was only a decade ago that the idea of daylight saving time legislation was a daring one that brought shivers to many politicians who had constituents divided between urban and rural dwellers. As recently as 1963 some of the city politicians tried to extend the statute by providing for daylight saving through October, instead of September, and failed because there was enough rural punch surviving in the legislative system to hold them off.

Then a couple of weeks ago the State Senate, in spite of its nominal leadership by men of rural tastes, rural backgrounds and rural loyalties, rushed the extension bill through after perfunctory debate by a margin of more than two to one.

Now the State Assembly, in a preliminary vote, has shown that it leans in the same direction by about the same two to one margin. One of the first orders of business in the lower house this week will be to give final concurrence to the Assembly bill and to send it on to Gov. Knowles, who can be expected to sign his approval also.

THE SURRENDER

The fact is that the fight has gone out of the farm lobby on the daylight saving time question, perhaps because it prefers to reserve its waning power for issues of more immediate consequence to the rank and file of the farm community.

Even Assemblyman Dueholm of Polk County, a sturdy and keenly observing rural politician, conceded the realities when he arose to make a brief speech for the record in the assembly the other day.

"We know we're in the minority," he said. "We can't win this cause with votes."

Dueholm appealed to what he called the decent instincts of the Assembly majority as he asked others to recognize that what is designed for the convenience and the pleasure of the city folk may be a real hardship for farm dwellers. Yet Dueholm and the others have been unable to provide arguments against daylight saving that have the least chance of counteracting the powerful demand not only of selfish city persons interested in more time for recreation, but business and other interests concerned about conformity of transportation, production and communication schedules with the rest of the country.

Perhaps the most telling observation during the routine daylight saving time bill discussion was offered by Assemblyman Conradi of rural Outagamie County. He said he has asked his local Farm Bureau organization for guidance and was told that he should support the bill.

POPULAR MESSAGE

The legislative response to the daylight saving issue, meanwhile, provides a useful illustration of the potency of popular participation in the legislative process.

During the last few weeks the legislature has been deluged with petitions and other communications from home districts, virtually all of them asking for the daylight saving extension.

Such a campaign might have been organized. But it showed some evidence of spontaneity, which was a tribute to the organizers if there was a concerted plan to apply pressure. It came at a time when the legislature has yet had little business of real importance on its calendars and when the volume of mail and communications generally has therefore been light. For new members, especially, the pelt from the daylight saving time champions obviously had a considerable effect in cancelling the often unconvincing and generalized arguments of the rural objectors.

Boredom Is Mankind's Most Explosive Force

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Napoleon wanted to be a writer, but the essays he submitted were rejected and laughed at. Hitler wanted to be a painter, but his work was rebuffed. Frustrated in their creative endeavors both men turned to aggressiveness and destructiveness.

Harris

Such examples could be multiplied many times throughout history. One of the basic human needs is for creation and self-expression, if this need is dammed up, or diverted, it often reveals itself in its opposite.

"The man who cannot create wants to destroy," Erich Fromm has said. The forces of violence and destruction in human life are usually generated by men who are ineffectual in living and in making.

One of the main reasons, I am convinced, for so much "senseless" violence in the slum society is not merely the poverty and bleakness of the physical and economic environment. It is that the opportunities for creative endeavor are so limited, or non-existent.

It is not simply that the slums offer young people no place to play and nothing to do; it is also that their homes and their schools and their neighborhood institutions are unable to channel the youngsters' creative energies in productive and satisfying ways. And energy that is not used for making will be used for unmaking.

As I have remarked before, this is a growing problem even in middle-class environments. Perhaps the chief demerit of television is not the poor content of the programs or the fatuity of the commercials, but the fact that it encourages passivity on the part of children.

If they no longer have to learn how to amuse themselves, by doing and making, by imagining and inventing, by developing personal skills, then the immense kinetic forces of childhood will most likely become first perverted into boredom, and then will erupt in some irrational act of violence against society. For boredom is mankind's most explosive element.

But the middle-class can at least provide some countervailing tendencies, with their better schools, their camps, their dancing lessons and skating lessons and varied community activities. In the slums, boredom is relentless and pervasive; if it cannot be relieved by creative activities, it will and must be relieved by massive delinquent behavior.

It is often the brightest and most potentially talented slum youngsters who become the leaders in gang violence. They are the little Napoleons who do not know what to do with their gifts except devising ways to retaliate against the social order. Some of them, of course, are psychopathic personalities; but many others are what Lindner rightly called "rebels without a cause." What they are rebelling against is a milieu that calls upon none of their talents except cunning and toughness.

Defender Can Fool A Declarer

Don't insist on playing the hand at a major suit rather than at notrump. Seven tricks in one suit are just as useful at notrump as they are at a trump contract. In today's hand South should have raised to three notrump instead of bidding four hearts.

North would make game at notrump even against the best opening lead — a heart. North could win and lead a low diamond to make sure of two diamonds and seven hearts.

West opened the jack of clubs against the actual contract of four hearts. When dummy played low, East played his lowest club, hoping for a switch to diamonds. West ignored this signal, leading the ten of clubs, and East had to capture dummy's king with the ace.

East shrewdly returned a heart to get an entry out of dummy before the spades were started. South won with the queen of hearts and led a low spade, finessing with dummy's nine since East surely had the ace of spades for his opening bid but was not bound to have the queen of spades.

Instead of taking the trick with the queen of spades East casually won with the ace of spades and then returned his other heart to dummy's jack. Since South was sure that West had the queen of spades he cashed dummy's king of spades and then ruffed a low spade, hoping that the queen would drop.

When the queen failed to drop, South was down one. He had to give up a diamond at the end of the hand.

If East had won the first spade trick with the queen, declarer would get to dummy with the jack of hearts to lead the king of spades through East. South would ruff out the ace of spades and get back to dummy with the ace of diamonds to discard two diamonds on the good spades.

Daily Question
As dealer, you hold: S-K J 10 9 5, H-J 10, D-A 3 2, C-K 8 6. What do you say?
Answer: Bid one spade. You have 12 points in high cards, 1 point for the doubleton, and a fine five-card major suit. This is a borderline opening bid, and some experts would recommend a pass instead of the bid.

DEAR DR. JONES: When he was about two-years-old, our son trained himself to use the toilet and stayed dry all night. But since we went to a cottage for a vacation five months ago, our son, now three, has been getting up to use the toilet a few times every night and he still wets the bed.
